

Congress urged to end unregulated waste sites

Proposed Transrail site in Wilmington one of many

WASHINGTON, DC - A loophole in Federal law that allows some railroads to operate waste facilities outside state and local environmental regulations was the subject of an October 16 hearing and possible action in the U.S. House of Representatives this week.

Jersey is seeking to utilize the existing loophole to pave the way for the waste transfer facility being proposed for Wilmington, MA.

Political leaders from several Northeast states asked Congress to close a loophole in Federal law that some railroads are using to run unregulated solid waste operations along railroad lines. At a hearing held on Tuesday, October 16th, before the House Subcommittee on Railroads, state and local elected officials and the solid waste industry called for swift passage of HR1248, a bill sponsored by Congressman Frank Pallone, Jr. (D-NJ), which will end abuse of this loophole.

Ten known unregulated sites are currently operating in New Jersey and New York, with 11 more sites proposed for New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania. Without passage of HR1248, unregulated waste facilities could appear anywhere in the country where there is rail track, such as the Olin property at

Town ready for pandemic?

Flu shot clinic will test preparedness

By CHARITY B. LEGVOLD

WILMINGTON - The Flu Clinic scheduled for November 1st at the West Intermediate School will serve as much more than a place for residents to receive this year's flu vaccinations, because it will also provide a test of the School as an Emergency Dispensing Site (EDS) as part of required emergency planning for the town.

The flu clinic will provide a mini test of parking, security and traffic flow among other things. Last year's clinic provided a similar test of the other Emergency Dispensing Site in town, the Middle school. That test went well and Board of Health Director Gregory Erickson expects that this site will also perform well in the test.

While it may seem strange that two emergency sites would be located so close together in one part of town, logistically it makes everything easier for the Incident Command Center to handle both sites. A government grant last year provided, among other things, money for computer linkage that allows for a mobile command post to be set up anywhere. Setting up a command post between the two schools allows for easier control of both settings, shared resources for traffic control,

Keep mercury from rising

Is there mercury in your house? Most likely.

By CHARITY B. LEGVOLD

WILMINGTON - Aubuchon Hardware on Route 38 in Tewksbury has joined a campaign that will help Tewksbury and Wilmington residents safely dispose of products that contain mercury. The store has two "Keep Mercury From Rising" containers where residents can safely dispose of fluorescent light bulbs.

"Keep Mercury From Rising" sounds like a campaign against global warming, but it is actually a Massachusetts based campaign sponsored by the Mercury Recovery Program, a program created for Wheelabrator Technologies, a "waste to energy" facility located in North Andover, to keep mercury from contaminating our waste stream and water resources.

Aubuchon Manager John MacKay said that residents should bring their used fluorescent bulbs to the register where an employee will take the bulbs and place them gently in the collection buckets in the back

Motorcyclist in ICU

Intersection closed for hours following accident

By STEPHEN BJORK

WILMINGTON - A Woburn man is still in critical condition at Brigham and Women's Hospital following a mid-morning traffic accident in Wilmington this past Saturday.

Michael McDonough, 53, of Woburn, was on a Harley Davidson motorcycle traveling north on Woburn Street when a 2000 Pontiac, operated by a 21-year old Dracut woman, broad-sided him at the intersection of Woburn Street and Lowell Street.

The Dracut woman was cited for a red light violation.

Emergency crews were onsite within moments and called for MedFlight to transfer McDonough. The MedFlight helicopter touched down on Textron property and McDonough was flown to Brigham and Women's Hospital. As of Tuesday afternoon, he remains in ICU.

Following the accident, the intersection was barricaded for several hours with traffic being re-routed through adjacent parking lots. Wilmington Police Officer Dan Murray is leading the investigation of the accident with assistance from State Police Accident Reconstruction specialists.

Family Counseling turns 40

Tasting Festival right around the corner

By CHARITY B. LEGVOLD

WILMINGTON - Wilmington Family Counseling Services (WFCS) has provided more than 100,000 counseling and therapy sessions to over 11,750 client families and individuals during 40 years of service.

"This is a very unique situation," explained Carol Golub,

Ph.D., Executive Director at WFCS since 1969. "There are only a handful of towns who support their own mental health services."

Emil Berger, a Textron employee who felt it was important for local residents to have access to mental health services, founded Wilmington Family Counseling Services forty years ago so that residents would not have to travel to Lowell for such services.

Berger enlisted the help of attorney (and former Selectman) Jim Bando to set up a non-profit corporation. Berger found support for the idea from the Council of Churches and concerned members of the Wilmington community. Originally, the agency was funded by the Wilmington Community Fund, (which runs the food pantry), and had a first year budget of $3,000.

"I think they had a lot of foresight to do this because this was the beginning of a time when people began to appreciate the benefits of mental health organizations to individuals and families," said Golub of Berger and Bando. "It was very much a grassroots organization," she added.

In comparison, the non-profit agency now operates on an annual budget of more than $750,000, with less than $100,000 of that funded by the town of Wilmington. The rest is raised through a variety of sources: client fees, grants, insurance, and other avenues - with a crucial part of the budget funded by donations from businesses and individuals.

Located at 5 Middlesex Avenue, it now has a staff of 23 professionals including a psychiatrist, psychologist, mental health counselors, licensed social workers, and psychiatric nurses. Their purpose is to provide "quality mental health services at a reasonable cost to the clients, and at a time convenient to their work and school schedules."

For those in the Wilmington community without health insurance, the agency offers a sliding fee scale, which ranges from $15 - $125 per visit. Non-residents of Wilmington are also eligible for service, although they are not eligible for the sliding fee scale.

All client information is kept in the strictest confidence, and no information is revealed to any person or agency without written permission. Though the agency is accountable to the Board of Directors and the Wilmington Board of Health, client names are never revealed to either group.

Golub said that since they are funded by the town they feel it is their mission to "let people know that we are here as a resource when they need it."

In addition to individual and family counseling, services also include workshops dealing with areas such as Parenting, Women's Empowerment, Mindfulness Meditation, and a support group for diabetics in conjunction with a Senior Center group for diabetes education. The agency reaches out to the community through programs such as a Martial Arts Empowerment Program (funded by Merrimack Valley United Way) that will be held at the North Intermediate School and a Girls' Leadership Program at the West Intermediate.

Golub said it has been very rewarding being directed many years and working collaboratively with the schools and the community.

"What is still amazing to me after being a psychologist for these years is that therapy works," Golub said. "People often think that talking to someone won't change anything. But it does. Having someone to listen, give a new perspective, suggest different coping strategies, can be crucial to resolving a crisis in healthier ways. It has been very rewarding providing a place where that can and has happened for so many people in our community."

Tasting Festival is just around the corner

There's still time to get your tickets to this year's Evening of Gourmet Delights Tasting Festival to benefit the Wilmington Family Counseling Service. The festival will take place on Sunday, November 4, 5-7:30 pm at the Casa di Fior.

Golub said that there has been a real outpouring of support from the community. There are eleven participating restaurants donating enough food for the people, and donations of about 100 items for silent auctions and raffles.

Participating restaurants include: The Grille, Casa di Fior, Chef, Delicious Dishes, Focaccia, Harbinger Grill, Mango II Thai Cuisine, Mastroianni's Catering, Raphael's Place and Catering.

Thirty years of pumpkins

Annual Woburn St. Pumpkin Fair this Saturday

By JULIE FENNELL

WILMINGTON - The Woburn Street School will be holding its 30th Annual Pumpkin Fair this Saturday, October 20th from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Woburn Street School, 227 Woburn Street. The daylong event is presented by the Northside Parent Advisory Council (PAC) which is comprised of parents of Woburn Street School or North Intermediate School students.

"Over 300 people attended last year's fair," said Sue Connors, Co-Chair of this year's event. "It's truly amazing how many people come to the fair each year. There is plenty to do all day long."

In addition to the much anticipated pumpkin patch, activities include pony rides, face painting, spin art, mask making, bead art, cupcake decorating, moon bounce, mini obstacle course, carnival games and much more. Activity tickets are 50 cents each, and most activities range from one to three tickets.

A raffle will also offer participants the chance to win four Celtics game tickets, bikes, iPod shuffle, digital camera, gift certificates, gift baskets, games and other donated items.

Businesses and individuals interested in donating to the raffle can send items directly to the Woburn Street School, by calling 978-694-6020, or by emailing Sue Connors at smc19thhole@comcast.net.

While supplies last, each child under 10 years old will receive a free 30th Annual Pumpkin Fair balloon and a mini pumpkin to decorate. Free door prizes will also be given away every half hour throughout the day.

Lunch items include hot dogs, pizza, chips and drinks.

"Mike McCoy of Michael's Place has graciously organized donations from local pizza restaurants, Pepsi and Utz Potato Chips for us to serve 400 lunches," noted Connors. "It truly is a wonderful way to raise money for the school, and the event has become a community affair."

Many of the parents who now attend the fair with their children can recall enjoying the same event years ago when they were students.

"This fair allows the PAC to raise money to help support the school needs. The money raised goes directly to each classroom to help the teachers purchase what they need for any of their curriculum needs. Over the past seven years we have been able to give the school anywhere between $5,000 and $7,000 each year which has been used for computer equipment, art, reading, geography and science supplies, gym equipment, calculators and other items that

It's Your Money by Joyce Brisbois

NUMBER-CRUNCHING AN INHERITANCE

An inheritance can be a bitter-sweet happening: there's sadness when a loved one has died, but some delight when money comes in. Think carefully before you spend it. Stash it in a safe spot—a money-market account or a CD—while you consider your options.

Check with a financial professional to find out if there are tax issues. For instance, an inherited IRA must be used with care; simply cashing it in could result in a huge tax bill. Which assets should you tap first? Check with a legal advisor. Should you add a spouse's name to some assets? Do you need a new will? A trust?

Now's the time to use inherited money most wisely, to fill in what you really need before you start on the things you want. Pay off big credit-card or other high-interest debts, fund the retirement account, build up a college fund for the kids. With whatever is left, determine your priorities. Then when you do spend money on the fun things you really want, you can feel good about it.

When you've got money questions, we've got the answers at:

Letters to the editor

Children without dental care

Dear Editor;

Every day, thousands of low income children and seniors suffer needless pain and mounting oral health problems. NOT because Massachusetts is unwilling to pay for their dental care, but because they can't find a dentist willing to accept MassHealth. Because Massachusetts law prevents dental hygienists from delivering services except under the supervision of dentists who, for the most part, are unwilling to treat low income people, these patients have no access to dental cleanings, scaling and sealants that might have prevented so many problems in the first place. As a dental hygienist, there is nothing that would please me more than to be able to help thousands of people presently without oral health care to get the preventive care they desperately need.

This is not a small problem of a few people not getting their cavities filled - good oral health has been linked to good overall health, as a simple screening can help identify oral cancer, malnourishment, and eating disorders. Children miss over 52 million hours of school each year due to dental problems, and thousands of hours of work are missed each year in adulthood.

Access to care is also a statewide problem. Of the 351 cities and towns in Massachusetts, nearly 20% do not have a practicing dentist, 30% do not have enough dentists to serve the population, and 50% do not have even one dentist willing to accept MassHealth patients. Sadly, Wilmington is one of those towns without a dentist who will treat MassHealth patients, so residents of our town who have MassHealth insurance are forced to travel elsewhere, sometimes great distances, for basic oral health care.

Citizens of Massachusetts and policy makers can help address this problem by following the lead of 22 other states in passing legislation (H. 2221) that allows registered dental hygienists (RDH) to practice in public health settings, such as schools, nursing homes, and community health centers, without the supervision of a dentist. In doing so, RDHs would be able to provide people without access to a dentist with the preventive care dental hygienists are already licensed and educated to provide. Because the services are covered under MassHealth, there would be no additional cost to taxpayers. Please join me in calling your elected officials to support this important bill.

Sincerely,
Carolyn Wehler, RDH, MPH

Reaching the Unreachable

Having a learning disability can have a devastating affect on the victim. It can distort childhood and the rest of life. Many are labeled and looked upon as retarded, stupid, and unreachable. Many of these children are highly intelligent. Failing and being rejected only confirms they have been labeled correctly. This belief can become a part of their lives. Is it any wonder these children shut down to the learning process? Many had been taught by the best teachers, but to no avail. I found that many teachers had their hearts in the right place, but their focus was wrong. Many times to reach a child you must change the standard curriculum. If something doesn't work, seek out another approach.

It takes a lot of manipulation and unorthodox means to reach these difficult learning disabilities. There are some special need teachers who have this special incite and talent. Working and teaching these children taught me more than any seminar or college course. Over a period of thirty-five years I was able to find many subtle behaviors that were causing the problems. We can learn so much from our students.

One difficult case was a boy Tom who was twelve-years old. He had severe hearing impairment with a speech impediment. These defects affected his self-esteem as well as his motivation to learn. His anger and defiance became his defense mechanisms. This affected his willingness to participate and learn.

His parents were devastated and angry toward the school, because of the lack of results. Phone calls and reports from school were always negative. "Your boy refuses to be taught. For no reason Tom defies, yells and knocks everything off his desk." The two special need teachers had tried everything. They were completely exhausted, and frustrated in trying to reach Tom. Their specialty was teaching the hearing impaired. They were both fine teachers. Great pressure was put on these teachers, because of the father's influence in the town.

After exhausting every avenue Dad sued the school system. The parents were allowed to seek help outside their school system. I was recommended by one of his schoolteachers who I had helped in the past.

My job was to observe the interaction between teacher and Tom during the teaching process. I felt awkward having to observe and correct the teachers. I explained to the teachers how I felt. They were more than willing to participate to gain positive results.

The first lesson was on reading. This area was very limited because Tom could not pronounce many of the words.

His speech impediment made it that much more difficult. With a lot of pleading the teachers convinced Tom to start reading. Tom's efforts soon came to an end for no apparent reason. He got up from his desk throwing his book on the floor. This was the greatest problem, for there was never any apparent reason. Yet there was always a reason that was not being recognized.

In this particular case, even though the teachers took every precaution to eliminate stress, they unknowingly were causing it. As Tom read his book, he came to a word he couldn't pronounce. The teacher very carefully tried to help Tom say the word he couldn't pronounce. She went over it a number of times with no success. Each time he failed you could sense his frustration growing. This is when he blew up by yelling and pushing his book off his desk.

In Tom's case each time he was stopped to be corrected, it only reminded him of his impediments. These corrections would have little affect on most people. This is why these incidents are rarely noticed and dealt with. There are many of these silent killers that go unnoticed.

I suggested they recognize all the words he could pronounce and ignore the words he couldn't. Most important was not to stop the flow of Tom's reading. This now became a positive experience. In the mean time they would make notes of all the words he didn't know. These words would be dealt later when Tom was participating in his stronger area. This small change caused Tom to get involved. This style of teaching was used for many other areas, and it worked. We sometimes go looking for some secret complex answers while the simple answer is right there.

Another child, Mike, I worked with seemed to be so difficult, yet there was a simple reason. I was called in to observe this boy of thirteen who for no apparent reason would blow up and destroy all his examination papers. Why should this happen? There was no pressure; everyone spoke kindly to him, especially the boy sitting next to him. These outbursts happened every time there was an exam. The simple reason was the other child was much brighter than Mike. Each time, while Mike struggled with his first page, the other child had finished his three pages. Once again the child felt frustrated and stupid. We should never underestimate the sensitivity of a child's self-esteem. Seating Mike next to a child with his same limited abilities solved the problem. Before seeking a miracle, look for that simple answer.

Mass Adoption Resource Exchange celebrates 50 years

BOSTON - Over the past 50 years, more than 5000 children in the Massachusetts foster care system have found safe and supportive adoptive homes thanks to the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange, Inc.

On Sunday, November 4, 2007, MARE will reflect on its past accomplishments as well as future goals at "The Best is Yet to Come" Golden Anniversary Celebration from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. at Jordan's Furniture in Reading. More than 200 adoptive families, adoption advocates, supporters, business and political leaders are expected to attend to celebrate MARE's work for children in need of homes. Rockland resident and Wakefield native Rosemary from 1967 to 1974, will be honored at the event for her work in championing the cause of children in foster care. During her tenure, she initiated programs such as the Photolisting system, a book containing biographical descriptions and photographs of children who are registered with MARE and waiting for adoption. Updated monthly, MARE's Photolisting publication is available in nearly 400 public libraries and social services agencies throughout the state. MARE's Photolisting® was the first of its kind in the nation and is registered with the Library of Congress.

"We are delighted to take this opportunity to recognize Rosemary's innovative leadership," said MARE's Executive Director Lisa Funaro. "For 40 of their first 50 years, she served as executive director and then board member. Rosemary developed programs now utilized by Adoption Exchanges nationwide."

As to why she decided to revamp the way adoption agencies reached out to prospective parents, McAuliffe said: "I didn't feel these children had enough exposure [when I first arrived at MARE]. It was important to him that people knew these children better. And through these photos, we went from placing 10 children a year to a 100 children a year. They felt this program was one of the best things I could have done for youngsters in foster care."

Throughout the years, MARE has expanded on McAuliffe's vision of showcasing waiting children by introducing the "Sunday's Child" feature in the Boston Sunday Globe, a weekly column running since 1974. Similar features now appear in 15 newspapers across the state, including five Spanish language papers. In 1981, MARE partnered with WBZ-TV4 to create "Wednesday's Child," a weekly television segment hosted by news anchor Jack Williams, featuring profiles of MARE's waiting children. From these child-specific profiles to Adoption Parties to the Information Referral Line and Website, MARE has been the connecting link between children waiting for adoption and prospective adoptive parents from all walks of life, including married couples, and single or partnered adults.

MARE's Golden Anniversary Celebration will include a performance by New Hampshire resident and Auburn native Glenn Stewart, a country-western recording artist. Stewart will perform his original song "Forever Home" from his self-titled CD. With moving lyrics - "You're so young and seen so much."

Your heart's been broken a thousand times" - "Forever Home" was a natural byproduct of Stewart's experience in adopting his first of three children with MARE's help. The song serves as a promise to Stewart's children that they will never be without a home again.

MARE's anniversary celebration is sponsored by Jordan's Furniture, Lexus of Greenwich, State Street Corporation, Grey Goose Vodka, Community Newspaper Company, Dickinson Development Corp., Sovereign Bank, StoneTurn Group LLP, Citizen's Bank Foundation, and Arbella Insurance. The celebration will also feature hors d'oeuvres and buffet dinner catered by The Plated Gourmet, auctions, and the signature Grey Goose "MARE-tini." The evening will be hosted by Jordan's Furniture's famed pitch-man Eliot Tatelman.

In Massachusetts, there are over 10,000 children in foster care at any given time. Of these children, approximately 2,500 have "adoption" as their case goal. MARE focuses on recruiting adoptive families for the harder-to-place children in foster, including school age children 6 - 16 years old, children of color of all ages, sibling groups, and children with emotional, physical and intellectual challenges. MARE was founded in 1957 to find "a place to call HOME" for children in foster care.

Wilmington

A big thumbs up to the staff at Wildwood School for always being so pleasant and welcoming to the kids when they arrive at the school in the morning. Full day kindergarten is an adjustment to some of us to see our little ones go off for six hours. I have been consistently impressed with the welcoming smiles and kindness to the kids!!!! Thank you...for taking such great care of our little ones!!! A grateful parent!!!

National popular vote clears

Sponsored by Wilmington Representative, Charlie Murphy

BOSTON - The Massachusetts Joint Committee on Election Laws gave a favorable report today to the National Popular Vote bill, which would guarantee that the presidential candidate who receives the most popular votes in all 50 states and the District of Columbia will win the Presidency, rather than the current winner-take all allocation of electoral votes in all states but Maine and Nebraska.

Massachusetts is like the vast majority of states a spectator in the Presidential race, said Charley Murphy (D-Burlington), one of the lead sponsors of the bill. The outcome here, and in 3/4 of the states, is not in doubt. That means no Presidential advertising in the general election, and no campaigning here. We want to make all votes equal regardless of whether a voter lives in Massachusetts or in Ohio or in Florida.

"The Committee recognized

PAL registration

TEWKSBURY - Registration for the upcoming season of Police Athletic League Wrestling Season is Wednesday, October 24th and Friday October 26th at the Tewksbury Police Station from 4-8 PM. Email questions to Tpalwrestling@yahoo.com.

that the current system is inherently undemocratic, and has become outdated and obsolete," said House Chairman Rep. Garrett Bradley, D-Hingham. "In every other election, except for the highest office in the land, the person with the most votes wins. This would rectify this inequity in the process, he said.

"With this legislation, every single vote in Massachusetts will count and showing up to the polls every four years will truly mean something," said Senate Chairman Sen. Edward Augustus, D-Worcester. "I am a strong supporter of voting rights and believe strongly in the theory of 'one person, one vote' originally articulated by the United States Supreme Court. Voting is an essential democratic right and it is time that we looked at increasing people's participation in that process."

The National Popular Vote legislation, if enacted by the full House and Senate, would not become effective immediately since it is technically an interstate compact. Only when states with 270 or more Presidential electors, a majority in the electoral college, and roughly half of the U.S. population, have passed identical legislation would it become effective. Proponents are aiming for it to take full effect for the 2012 Presidential election.

The National Popular Vote bill has been signed into law in Maryland passed both chambers in Illinois and is expected to become law there later this fall there and in

New Jersey. It was also enacted by the California and Hawaii legislatures, but vetoed by their governors. The bill has 350 cosponsors across the country.

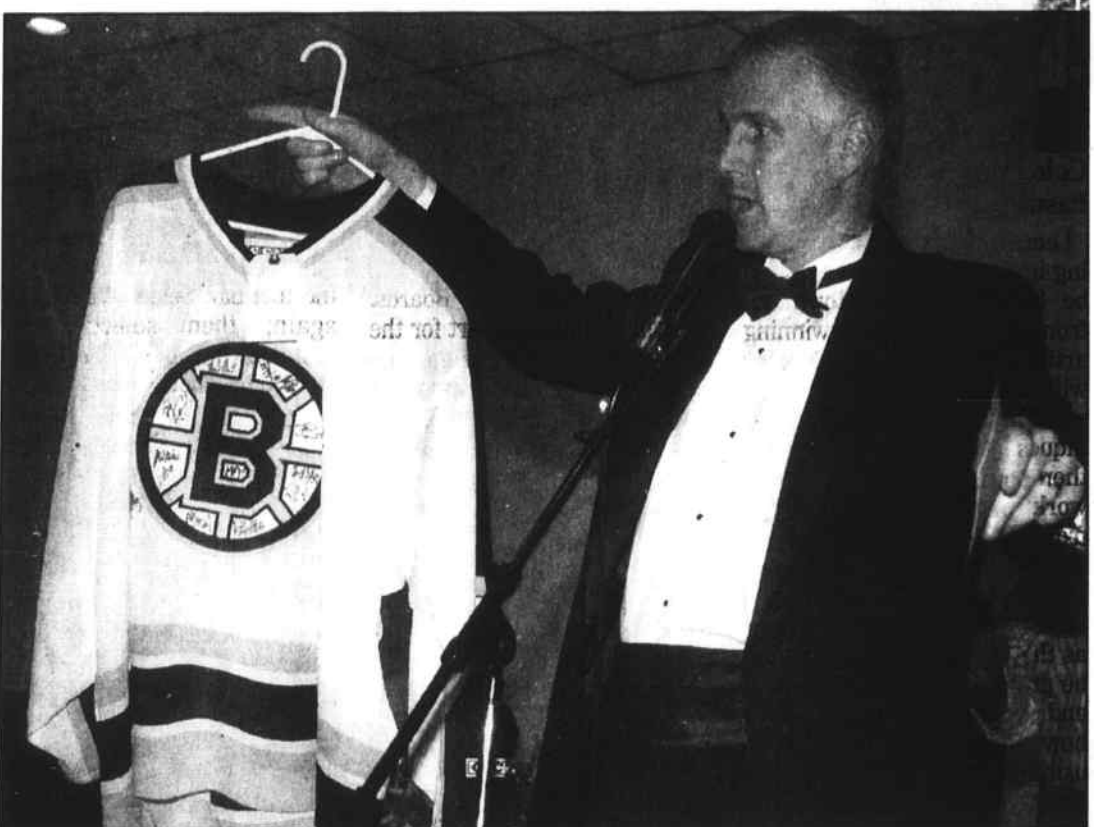

"We are extremely pleased that the National Popular Vote legislation is moving forward in Massachusetts," said Barry Fadem President of National Popular Vote, the non-profit group leading the effort nationwide. "This reform will give all voters, whether in Massachusetts or in Florida, an equal say in the most important election in the world—the election for the President of the United States."

Enacting this legislation will do more than any other reform to increase voter participation in Presidential elections, added Pam Wilnot Common Cause Massachusetts executive director. "The vast majority of votes just don't count under the current system. Kudos from Common Cause to Co-Chairman Sen. Ed Augustus and Rep. Garrett Bradley and the Elections Committee for taking a leadership role in moving this important proposal forward." Common Cause, MASSPIRG, MassVOTE, the NAACP, and the Black Political Task Force and others testified in support of the proposal last month at a legislative hearing.

The Election Laws committee voted to release the bill with a favorable recommendation following a poll of the members late last week. The legislation (H. 678, H. 710, S. 445, and Senate 452) was filed by Representative Charley Murphy, Rep. Martin Walsh, Rep. Lewis Evangelidis, Senator Joan Menard, and Senator Robert Creedon along with 25 other cosponsors.

The bill still requires approval of the full House and Senate before it can be sent to the Governor.

Teen Zone News

Teen Read Week: LOL @ Your Library Teen Read Week October 14 to October 20 is almost over, but the laughs just keep going! Brandy Danner Teen Services Librarian has a great list of humorous realistic fiction listed on the Teen Zone website www.wilmingtonlibrary.org. Here are two side-splitting stories in the teen collection she recommends:

Good Omens (by Neil Gaiman and Terry Pratchett) 11 years ago, a Satanist nun was given a baby-switching task. Unfortunately, she delivered the antichrist to the wrong parents. Now he's a normal boy named Adam, and the final war between heaven and hell is brewing—much to the dismay of a rare-book-dealing angel and his demon friend, who enjoy life on Earth too much to let the apocalypse happen. All that stands in their way are seas of fire and rains of fish, a misguided witch hunter, and the Four Horsepersons of the Apocalypse.

The Princess Bride (by William Goldman) You've seen the movie, but never read the book? Inconceivable! How else can you find out what Buttercup's parents are like, why Inigo wants revenge so badly, or why Fezzig is so eager to please everyone? And you must be at least a little curious about the alternate ending to this hilarious tale that has everything: fencing, torture, poison, giants, rodents of unusual size, and true love.

Teen and Tween Advisory

Athletes shine at T.H.E. FARM

Special Olympics 2007 Equestrian Fall Tournament held on October 14, 2007

TEWKSBURY - Jessica Sutton, 16, of Westford woke up Saturday morning and said to herself, "I think I see gold in my future!" Jessica is one of T.H.E. FARM's student athletes, who participated in the Special Olympics riding competition on October 14, 2007 at Windrush Farm in Andover. She was right about the gold. Jessica won a gold medal in the equitation event and a silver medal in the working trail event. She credits much of her success to the six rules she lives by, and proudly recited. 1. Never give up. 2. Keep trying. 3. You can't change rule one or two. 4. Always have a positive attitude. 5. Always have a smile on your face. 6. Always laugh to make yourself feel good. And then she added with a big grin, "Think about it. It describes me!"

The second competitor from T.H.E. FARM was Charles Snapausky, of Tewksbury, who won a bronze medal in the walk/trot event and took the fifth place ribbon in equitation. Ilana Greenburg, Charles's therapeutic riding instructor, says she thinks she learns more from him than he does from her. Charles' past experience was that of a horse trainer, who had spent many years working with horses at Suffolk Downs and other racetracks and farms in New England. He is very happy to have the opportunity to be working with horses again.

NFPA suggests Halloween safety tips to avoid fires

According to a recent report from NFPA, Halloween is the fifth highest day of the year for candle fires, falling in behind Christmas, Christmas Eve, New Year's Day and New Year's Eve.

In order to make the Halloween holiday safe, NFPA recommends the following:

Halloween Safety Tips

Purchase only costumes, wigs and props labeled flame-resistant or flame-retardant. When creating a costume, choose material that won't easily ignite if it comes in contact with heat or flame. Avoid billowing or long trailing features. Dried flowers, cornstalks and crepe paper are highly flammable. Keep these and other decorations well away from all open flames and heat sources, including light bulbs, heaters, etc.

Use flashlights when illuminating Jack-O-Lanterns. Use extreme caution when decorating with candlelit Jack-O-Lanterns, and supervise children at all times when candles are lit. When lighting candles inside Jack-O-Lanterns, use long, fireplace-style matches and be sure to place lit pumpkins well away from anything that can burn including doorsteps, walkways and yards. Remember to keep exits clear of decorations, ensuring nothing blocks escape routes.

Use flashlights as alternatives to candles or torch lights when decorating walkways and yards. They are much safer for trick-or-treaters, whose costumes may brush against the lighting.

Instruct children to stay away from open flames or other heat sources. Be sure children know how to Stop, Drop and Roll in the event their clothing catches fire. (Stop immediately, drop to the ground, covering your face with your hands, and roll over and over to extinguish flames.) Instruct children who are attending parties at others' homes to locate the exits and plan how they would get out in an emergency.

Provide children with lightweight flashlights to carry for lighting or as part of their costume.

Loretta's Lavender Rose blossoms in Wilmington

WILMINGTON - Loretta's Lavender Rose is being introduced to Wilmington by Gus and Loretta Lamont of North Reading. The Lamonts purchased Leduc's Cards and Gifts in August and have totally immersed themselves in their new venture since then. Gus retired from the North Reading Police Department after thirty years of service while Loretta was working on the south shore when they opted to find a way to spend more time together. That's when an opportunity presented itself and Loretta's Lavender Rose started to blossom in Wilmington.

The Grand Opening of the store will take place on October 27th from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The celebration will include refreshments and there will be many items on sale for that day only as well as lots of raffles and door prizes.

Loretta and Gus are looking forward to making a few additions in lines to enhance the usual items they carry. Customer favorites like Waterford, Lenox, American Girl Dolls, Yankee Candles, Annalee, and Buyers Choice will remain but they have already added several new lines like Vera Bradley Table and Housewares, OPI nail products, and a new line of Swarovski jewelry called Island Girl Creations. "We will continue to add new and exciting products, too," says Loretta.

Loretta adds, "We will continue to honor the 'purple card' that is designed for frequent buyers. The card is FREE and has 10 blocks on it. Each time a customer spends $5.00 or more, we punch the card and, when all 10 blocks are punched, the customer receives $5.00 off their next purchase. We also offer a 20% discount card that can be purchased for $18.00 a year and it entitles the customer to a 20% discount on most of the items in the store."

Gus says, "We offer complimentary gift wrapping on purchases of $10.00 or more so I have been busy preparing a new gift wrapping section full of beautiful Christmas wraps and bows in addition to the regular one we already have."

Loretta's Lavender Rose displays a lovely, hand-made signature flag in their window and carries a selection of both large and garden-sized hand-made flags in the store.

While both the owner and the name of the store have changed, what will remain constant are the many employees and residents of Wilmington who have greeted customers at that location for more than 15 and up to 25 years.

Loretta explains, "Gus and I think the many long-time employees are an asset to our business and they have such a wonderful rapport with our customers. We are both very pleased that the faithful employees will remain here with us."

"Gus and I are looking forward to getting acquainted with more people from Wilmington and the surrounding areas in the next few months. Please drop in to our Open House at 211 Lowell Street in Wilmington to introduce yourself and to see how our store is blossoming," says Loretta.

The Linden Tree Coffeehouse presents: An SOS Benefit

The Linden Tree Coffeehouse invites area residents to a special Sunday afternoon of music featuring twelve of the best regional folk acts on two stages. Sunday, October 21st from 1:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. is our SOS Benefit concert. The save our structure is to save a beautiful, historic building that has been the home of the Linden Tree Coffeehouse since 1985. Each of the twelve acts are donating their forty-five minute sets and donating CDs for the raffle.

This is an excellent opportunity to visit the church and to explore the World of Folk Music. A great number of musical genres will be presented during the day on two stages from blues to folkrock. Sound is being provided in the social hall by the Linden Tree Coffeehouse and the Sanctuary is being used as a performance space with sound donated by the Music Room in Reading.

In addition, there will be a pasta dinner from 5:30-7:00 prepared by members of the UU Church. Organizers had contacted performers in July explaining the benefit and within hours most of the lineup had been set. It is a tribute to the folk community, the collaboration between performers, venues, and audience members that is unique to the Boston Area. All acts included at this mini-festival have played at the Linden Tree in the past. Several will be stopping in Wakefield as they cross the country on extensive tours.

A summa cum laude graduate of Harvard University, Liz Carlisle is not your average country singer. Fresh off her first Nashville release, Big Dreams, the songwriter remains a favorite in the New England acoustic scene where she got her start. Liz's debut album, Five Star Day, garnered rave reviews from critics and audiences alike from coast-to-coast.

Greg Greenway is one of those difficult to categorize performers in the acoustic music scene. He is a rare combination of instrumental expertise, a soulful and moving singer, powerful poet, and sparkling entertainer with a great sense of humor. Simply put, he is one of the finest entertainers one will ever see. He has legendary energy. After a visit to the Civil Rights Museum in Memphis, he recorded the powerful song, "Pride In the Name of Love" which was partly written by U2, Bono, and Greg. It is a hair raising, riveting anthem that embodies Greg's passion and his gift for framing social issues. It is a show stopping event, couched in a presentation of high spirited give and take of such good humor that audiences unfailingly walk away uplifted.

For nearly 30 years Diane Taraz has been creating her own songs and breathing new life into traditional songs. Her rich, velvety voice is perfectly complemented by her inventive playing on guitar and lap dulcimer. Sing Out! magazine says she has a "deep-flowing river of a voice," and several reviewers have compared her vocal powers to those of Joan Baez and Judy Collins.

David Roth is a perfect musician who moves people, touches their heart, inspire humanity, while being someone who is so very funny, while being a great singer and songwriter. He is highly original, often hilarious, and always thoughtful. He's in demand at festivals, coffeehouses, and conferences for mental health professionals.

To find out more about all of the twelve acts, go to www.LindenTreeCoffeehouse.org or <http://www.LindenTreeCoffeehouse.org>, the Linden Tree Coffeehouse website, to read more about each one and the awards that they have received. See where they have appeared and will appear. Twelve acts in one day for a $20 minimum donation. Celebrate the traditional and the contemporary music while making a donation to save a historic building. ## Unitarian Universalist Church offers special service

Residents of Reading, North Reading, Wilmington, Woburn, Stoneham and Burlington are invited to join the Rev. Tim Kutzmark, Minister of the Unitarian Universalist Church in Reading, for a special service entitled: "Five Hundred Miles To Go: Living With Chronic Illness, Depression, Disappointment, or Suffering."
"This service," says Rev. Kutzmark, "grew out of the request of a member of our congregation who struggles with some difficult long-standing issues. These are some of the hardest things for people to talk about. How do we face life when hope is hard to find? How to we keep going when we—or someone we love—suffer from an illness or a condition that won't get better over time? How can we be better friends and companions to those will struggle with the reality of chronic illness, suffering, or disappointment?" Kutzmark continues, "Unitarian Universalism is a faith tradition that doesn't suggest there is a simple answer to these questions, or a 'one-size-fits-all' solution. But we do believe there are pathways that lead towards hope and renewed strength."
Special music for the service will include a powerful interpretation of R.E.M.'s classic song about despair and suicide, "Everybody Hurts," sung by guest musician Roald Wilson, a long-time music instructor at "Creative Arts." The UUCR choir will also sing.
The Unitarian Universalist Church is a regional church serving the communities North of Boston. It is an intentionally inclusive congregation, welcoming people of all ages, religious backgrounds, cultural origins, differing abilities, and sexual orientations. For more information please contact the church office at 781-944-0494 or revtim@uureading.org.

Contractor wins green, at green, for doing green

Wilmington Company Receives "COOL SMART" Award for Excellence at Annual ACCA Golf Tournament
STOW, Mass., - Wilmington-based Lennox was honored recently with an outstanding performance award during the ACCA (Air Conditioning Contractors of America) - New England Golf Tournament at the Stow Acres Country Club in Massachusetts. Sponsored by National Grid and NSTAR Electric, the winners were recognized at a luncheon awards ceremony where ACCA executive committee member and incoming National Chairman Ray Isaac, made the keynote speech. Lennox was one of eleven New England-based contractors honored during the event.
Dave Legg is principal analyst at National Grid and presented the award. He said, "Lennox, along with the other award winners, are the cream of the crop when it comes to quality installation of high-efficiency air conditioning equipment. Because they are participating in COOL SMART, their work reduces pollution, harmful greenhouse gas emissions and energy use. We are proud to be part of this important program and congratulate Lennox wholeheartedly for their outstanding efforts." Launched in 2003, COOL SMART is a central air conditioner rebate program for National Grid and NSTAR Electric residential customers. The initiative promotes the purchase and installation of ENERGY STAR® - qualified residential HVAC systems in Massachusetts and Rhode Island. The COOL SMART awards are based on leadership, quality installations and active program participation. Conservation Services Group (CSG), a Westborough, Mass.-based energy services firm, is the administrator of the COOL SMART program.

Tickets are $44.50, $54.50 and $69.50 and go on sale Monday, October 15, 2007 at 10:00am. Tickets will be available in person at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium box office located at 50 East Merrimack Street in Lowell, by calling the box office at (978) 454-2299, at any Ticketmaster outlet, online at www.ticketmaster.com or by calling Ticketmaster at (617) 931-2000 or (603) 868-7300. For more show information, visit www.lowellauditorium.com.
Anne Murray has a long history of recording success. Her first top ten hit was in 1969 with her song "Snowbird," achieving international acclaim. Murray continued to create easy listening classics during the 1970s, including "A Stranger in My Place," "Cotton Jenny," "Danny's Song" and "Love Song." She had two number one country hits with her "He Thinks I Still Care" and "Son of a Rotten Gambler." After a very successful cover of "Walk Right Back" in 1978, Anne Murray went gold with her Grammy winning "You Need Me," reaching number one on the pop charts. Murray did not stop there and continued to record hits into the late '80s with country favorites "I Just Fall in Love Again," "Shadows in the Moonlight," "Broken Hearted Me," "Could I Have This Dance," "Blessed Are the Believers," "A Little Good News," "Just Another Woman in Love," "Nobody Loves Me Like You Do," and "Now and Forever." With her thirty-four albums, long history of hits and thirty-nine years of beautiful performances, Anne Murray led the way for a generation of Canadian divas, who have also conquered the world - Celine Dion, Shania Twain, k.d. lang, Alanis Morissette and Sarah McLachlan.

Anne Murray was born on June 20, 1945 in the small coal-mining town of Springhill, Nova Scotia. She would sing all the time as a child, and she cherishes memories of singing with her family. In high school, her devotion to music drove her to travel 2 hours every Saturday morning for piano lessons via bus. She was moved by rock legend Buddy Holly as well as performers Patti Page, Bing Crosby and Rosemary Clooney. Murray's passion for music continued while she studied Physical Education at the University of New Brunswick. In 1966 she landed a job with Singalong Jubilee, a popular CBC series. Singalong Jubilee released a cast album and, shortly after, Murray recorded her first solo album What About Me. A year later, Anne Murray signed with Capitol Records. The result was the album This Is My Way, with the cherished "Snowbird." From there, Murray's career skyrocketed. She has won countless awards, including four Grammys.

Anne Murray shows no sign of stopping. After thirty-nine years of treasured performances, she continues to commit to her beloved fans. Anne has an upcoming release of her album Anne Murray Duets: Friends and Legends. The compilation features Murray singing duets of some of her popular hits, including "You Needed Me," "Nobody Loves Me Like You Do," "Danny's Song," and "I Just Fall in Love Again," with some of the finest women of song, ranging from Olivia Newton-John to Nelly Furtado.

FEMA holds advisory conference

BOSTON - The Federal Emergency Management Agency's (FEMA) 21 member Regional Advisory Council conducted its inaugural meeting October 9 in Boston.

FEMA Region I Administrator and Chair of the Council, Arthur Cleaves, led the meeting which included Connecticut Governor M. Jodi Rell, New Hampshire Governor John H. Lynch, Massachusetts Governor Deval Patrick and Boston Mayor Thomas Menino.

"New England is unique in that most disasters affect the entire region so by having a regional perspective on emergency management, we can better prepare and respond to the next hurricane or a pandemic outbreak," said Cleaves.

The Council, which is made up of state, local and tribal representatives from all six New England states, serves to advise FEMA's Regional Administrator on all aspects of emergency management and disaster preparedness in New England.

In his opening remarks, Governor Patrick told the members, "We are looking forward to taking your best council on how we can be as best prepared in the Commonwealth."

The primary goal of the council is to improve communication and understanding among the various organizations involved in emergency management and response in New England.

"FEMA, working with us, will be instrumental in getting information out to the people," noted Governor Lynch. "On a regional basis, we need to make sure that our response is coordinated and that our decision making is collaborative."

Some of the key points discussed included a GAP Analysis looking at the strengths and weaknesses of each state's emergency plans; evacuation plans and procedures throughout New England and situational awareness monitoring for instant notification to emergency management officials.

Governor Rell also highlighted the need to share critical information between states and in coordination with FEMA.

"I think this is a very valuable meeting," stated Governor Rell. "We've done some great planning in our state but then we need to bring that [information] back to FEMA so that we can coordinate with them when the time comes, in a better planned, more timely manner than we have in the past."

The members will continue to review preparedness, protection, response, recovery and mitigation programs and policies to identify weaknesses and recommend improvements. The duties of the council are solely advisory.

"I am so impressed by the members of the council and their dedication to emergency management," said Cleaves. "It was our goal to have a diverse group of leaders that could advise on emergency management in the region and we accomplished that."

The Regional Advisory Council will meet in full session at least two times a year; however, the chairperson will notify all members of any additional meetings when appropriate.

Members initially will serve staggered term lengths. One third will serve for one year, one third will serve for two years and one third will serve for three years. Eventually, all terms will be three years long.

Family Counseling turns 40

Rocco's Restaurant, and Uptown Deli.

"This outpouring of support in celebration of our fortieth anniversary is very heartwarming," Golub explained. "We are very lucky that even new businesses coming into the area have stepped forward to support us."

Golub found an enthusiastic new sponsor this year in Patrick Subaru. Manager Mike Fitzgerald said that what makes Patrick Subaru different is that it is family owned and family operated and they really want to be involved in the community. Fitzgerald grew up in Wilmington and still has a lot of family in the area, so he is excited to be back in town. He sees this event as "an exceptional opportunity to do something good. We've been in town for a year now and we're looking forward to more."

This popular event has been a sell-out for the past several years. Tickets must be purchased in advance because no tickets will be sold at the door. Individual tickets are $25 each and tables are $225 each. Individual tickets are available at Focaccia, Uptown Deli, and the Wilmington T-Stop. Tables must be purchased at the Wilmington Family Counseling Service, Heritage Commons, 5 Middlesex Ave. For more information about the festival or to request counseling service, call 978-658-9889.

Rain or shine, Connors looks forward to an amazing event this year. "I'd like to thank everyone who has contributed their time or donations to help make this year the best fair ever. We started planning for this way back in June. Without the generosity of their time, resources, and the donations that come in from all over the community and local businesses, this annual event wouldn't be possible."

and ease in sharing equipment and supplies. Erickson said that the town has two of everything in the "Go Kits," but it's nice to know that it is easy to run to the other site to pick up something if one site runs short.

In an emergency situation, such as a pandemic flu, residents would need to receive vaccinations as soon as they are made available. The town would assign each resident to one of the two Emergency Dispensing Sites. Carter Lane provides ample space for cars to queue in a true emergency, allowing for ease of traffic flow in the surrounding area.

This test and the emergency planning are all part of the 'Continuity of Operations Plan,' (COOP). A COOP refers to preparations that allow for essential services to continue in the event of a large-scale disruption, like a pandemic flu that could incapacitate large populations. It is one step in a series of steps that are required by the government, and compliance is necessary in order for communities to be eligible for continued emergency planning funds.

The ease of long distance travel today means that if pandemic flu breaks, it can move swiftly from one place to another by airplane before authorities even know it has hit. Continuity planning is essential because while it remains uncertain whether or not the next pandemic will be the Avian Flu - which is in other parts of the world now - experts agree that a pandemic at some point in the future is inevitable, just as pandemics have been a part of history. The government is planning, businesses and schools are planning and the other 33 cities and towns in Region 4A are planning too.

Other ongoing steps in emergency planning include surge capacity planning (in consultation with local hospitals), special population plans, and even animal plans - an aspect of planning that was highlighted when so many animal issues came to light in the wake of Hurricane Katrina.

Individual planning for emergencies is also encouraged by the Center for Disease Control (CDC) and Federal Emergency Management Association (FEMA). More information about individual, family, workplace, school and community planning can be found at the official U.S. Government website at www.pandemicflu.gov. The website provides checklists to follow, news items and lengthy explanations about the threat of avian influenza or any other pandemic or emergency situation.

Currently the US Government recommends that households prepare by storing at least a two-week supply of non-perishable food and water for each family member, including pets. Not only would this be helpful in a large-scale emergency, but it would also help with blizzards, power outages or even an unexpected loss of a paycheck.

For more information about Region 4A planning, go to the www.town.wilmington.ma.us, click on the link for Public Safety, choose Public Health, and follow the link for emergency preparedness.

Meanwhile, the flu shot clinic will be held on November 1st at the West Intermediate School Cafeteria from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m. Please note that from 3:30 to 5:00 p.m. is for residents over the age of 65 and 5:00 to 6:30 p.m. is open to all residents over the age of 18.

room to prevent breakage. The towns of Tewksbury and Wilmington will share the duties for the safe disposal of the bulbs.

Last year the Mercury Recovery Program provided both Tewksbury and Wilmington with storage sheds to hold the filled containers of light bulbs. When there are enough containers in the shed then the town calls the Veolia Environmental Services Facility in Stoughton to come and remove them. Veolia recycles 100 percent of the lamps into new lamps. The town pays Veolia and sends the invoice to the Mercury Recovery Program, which reimburses the town 100 percent of the expense.

Pat Scanlon is an independent consultant acting as the Mercury Recovery Program Coordinator. He said that the Mercury Recovery Program serves 75 communities in Massachusetts and that last year they recovered in excess of 1,700 pounds of mercury. "That is mind boggling," Scanlon said.

They recycled more than 300,000 linear feet of four-foot lamps, just from municipalities and schools. Scanlon said that, placed end-to-end, the bulbs would reach from the State House in Boston to the State House in New Haven, CT.

Last year there were more than 420,000 tons of waste processed at the North Andover Wheelabrator facility, and, with an assessment of $.50 per ton, that means that they had more than $200,000 to spend on environmental programs. The Mercury Recovery program used this money to educate about mercury, to pay for the bulbs to be disposed of properly, and they even went into local schools and replaced thermometers, blood pressure cuffs and barometers with new digital ones.

Mercury is an elemental metal that can act as a conductor or switch that can be used not only in light bulbs, but also in thermostats that keep homes warm each winter, in glass thermometers people use to check a child's temperature, and button batteries, among other things.

According to "Keep Mercury From Rising," mercury can be either a naturally occurring element or a man-made substance. Natural sources of mercury emissions include volcanic activity, forest fires, and the off-gassing of soils, rocks and the oceans while man-made emissions of mercury are from chemical and industrial processes, metal smelting, home heating oil, medical waste incinerators, coal-fired utility boilers, agricultural operations, and solid waste disposal facilities.

In 2000, new regulations required that all municipal "waste to energy" plants install sophisticated air pollution control technology and develop material separation plants to reduce mercury emissions. According to Arleen O'Donnell, Deputy Commissioner of Environmental Protection for the State of Massachusetts, there has been a "91 percent reduction in the amount of mercury emitted as a result of these programs in combination." Today man-made emissions account for less than half of the mercury produced each year.

Wilmington Board of Health Director Gregory Erickson explained that the first of the more compact and energy efficient light bulbs that were introduced several years ago are starting to burn out and are entering the waste stream. Erickson said that while these bulbs are great because they require less energy, which therefore saves in energy production costs and homeowner electricity costs, people need to know that these bulbs contain mercury and it needs to be disposed of properly.

Aubuchon is a point of purchase site which means that consumers can properly dispose of old fluorescent bulbs while shopping for new ones. Scanlon describes it as a win-win situation...the environment wins, the town wins and the store wins.

The Aubuchon containers are for fluorescent light bulbs only. Wilmington residents should contact their Board of Health for information about the proper disposal of other mercury filled items such as thermometers and thermostats. Tewksbury residents will find containers for disposal of these items at Town Hall.

If you break a thermometer or other item containing mercury, please call 1-866-9Mercury (1-866-963-7287) to receive expert advice for a safe clean up in order to keep your family safe and keep mercury out of the trash and out of water supplies. ## Congress urged to end unregulated waste sites

51 Eames Street in Wilmington. The owners and operators of the facilities claim that they are subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Federal Surface Transportation Board (STB), which oversees the railroad industry. Once under STB jurisdiction, railroad waste operations use the preemption loophole to bypass state environmental permitting and ignore local public health and safety regulations.

In recent weeks, a Senate panel passed a bill, which opened the legislative dialog to clarify the STB's jurisdiction over railroad waste operations. The Senate language does not adequately fix the problem because it allows for existing facilities to continue operating. HR 1248 clearly and immediately ends the ability of these rogue facilities to handle and transfer solid waste. It requires the operators to immediately apply for appropriate state and local permits and shuts down operations if they fail to comply.

"We're experiencing an epidemic of these unregulated operations and need an immediate solution," said Steve Changaris, Director of the National Solid Waste Management Association, which is part of a coalition of public officials, state agencies, municipalities, and waste and recycling industry trade groups supporting efforts to eliminate abuse of this loophole.

Those supporting efforts to close this loophole and end preemption abuse include the following:

Kennedy and Polcari siblings

One big happy soccer family

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

All last week was "Spirit Week" at Wilmington High School. And on a cold, rainy Friday afternoon, two sets of siblings, J.J. and Danielle Polcari, and Ryan and Colleen Kennedy gathered outside the gymnasium to take awkward pictures and to answer questions about themselves, their sibling and of course the team they play on. With their faces painted blue and white, their t-shirts marked up with Wildcat pride, it took some digging and time before the four teenagers could almost admit how much they care, emulate and respect their brother or sister.

But as typical teenagers, shy and nervous, it didn't quite happen.

What did happen was the four of them admitted how much sports, especially soccer has helped bring them closer.

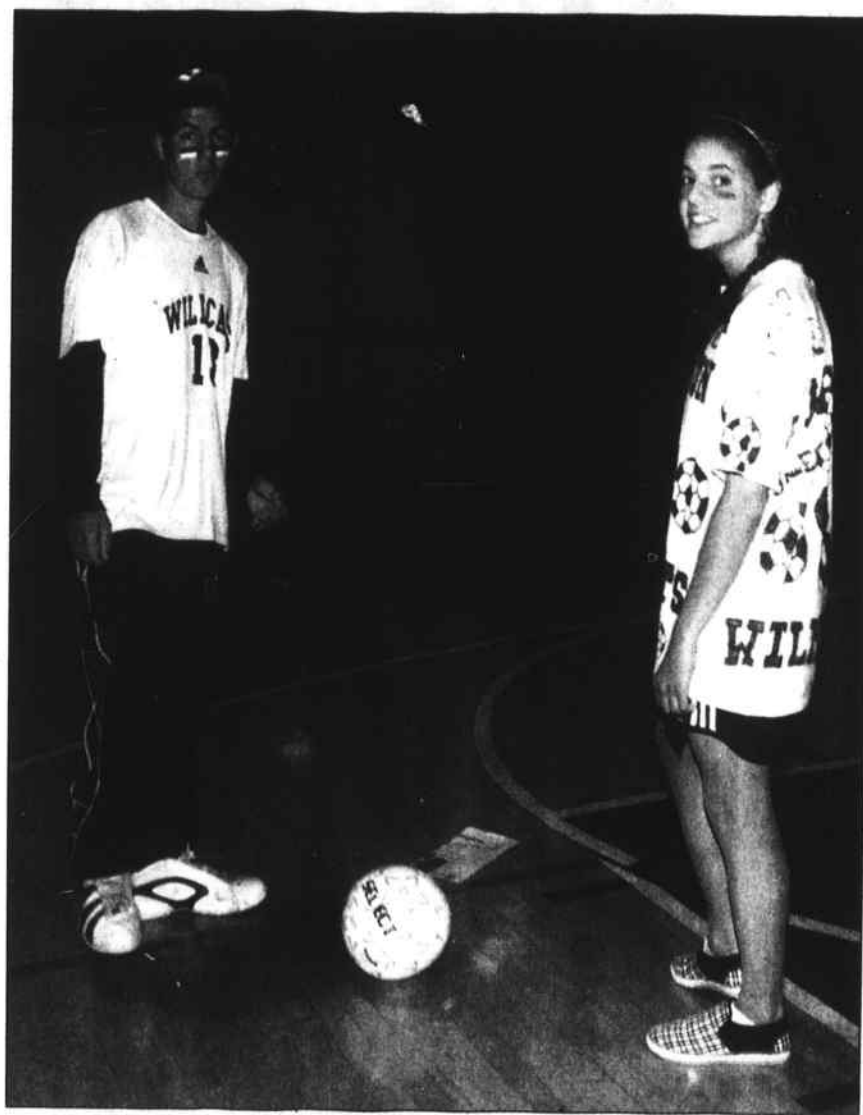

Both the Polcari's, J.J. a senior tri-captain and Denise, a sophomore, are the starting sweeper-backs for the boys and girls teams, respectively. Then there's the Kennedy's who are twins. Ryan is a forward who has a goal and an assist this season, and Colleen is a midfielder who has three goals this season.

And while the game of soccer has brought them together, all four of them have separately helped out their respective teams to winning records. The boys are currently unbeaten at 10-0-2 and have already qualified for the state tournament. The girls knocked off Tewksbury on Saturday and Rockport on Monday putting their record to 7-4-3 overall and are now just one point away from qualifying for the post-season.

And that's when the memories will continue ... the memories of watching each other play and the memories of cheering each other on.

"It's nice because (Ryan is) on the guys team and I'm on the girls team so we get to watch each other sometimes and we can stay connected," said Colleen. "It's pretty nice."

Both Ryan and Colleen were able to play soccer together this past summer. The two of them, along with their sister Jacqueline, their parents and

The Wilmington High boys and girls soccer teams have quite the family connection. Above, Ryan and Colleen Kennedy are twin siblings, with Ryan a forward on the unbeaten boys team and Colleen a midfielder on the girls team. And to the far right is JJ Polcari, a senior captain on the boys team along with his younger sister, Danielle, a sophomore on the girls team. some cousins, went to Scotland for almost three weeks. That's where they were able to show off some of their soccer skills.

"We went to Scotland over the summer and we ended up playing soccer against some Scottish kids and they were talking some trash and we ended up beating them," said Ryan with a laugh.

Ryan is a forward on the boys team. A junior, he has good speed and endurance, and provides great support to the veteran strikers on the team such as Mike Condell and Jason Pereira. Earlier this season, Ryan contributed with a goal and an assist in the team's victory over Ipswich.

"Ryan plays a reserve role with us as a striker," said boys head coach Steve Scanlon.

"He's improved a lot. Since he's been with me, he has come a long way. In the Ipswich game, we needed that game that day and he came through with a big goal and an assist for us."

Scanlon added that a big reason for Kennedy's success with the team is his understanding of his role.

"Ryan's a good relief for those two (forwards, Mike Condell and Jason Pereira). When he goes in, I don't worry too much. Ryan makes strides every week and I think next year when those kids leave, he'll take on a much bigger role for us. He's a real unselfish player. He's always team first kind of guy and you want guys to be like that in that role. He sees the big picture and it's good to see kids like him have some success."

Ryan is actually a minute younger than Colleen, so it seems like he has taken some of her traits, especially with the speed and endurance. Colleen is very deceptive as a midfielder putting on the Bugs Bunny jets whenever she pleases. She has contributed nicely with three goals this season and continues to improve every game since making the Big Club as a freshman.

"Colleen doesn't get fazed," said girls coach Sue Hendee. "She's always cruising along. She's an outside midfielder and that position is made for her because she can run all day long. She's getting better at covering the near post, or coming into the middle of the field when Lizzie (Chin) is making a cross pass and (Colleen) scored a goal that way earlier this season. Colleen's crosses are getting better and her touches are also getting better."

Ryan is the first to say how much good his twin sister is on the soccer field.

"It's great," said Ryan about having a twin sister. "(Colleen) made the team (two years ago a freshman) and that was great and I was there to support her. I have another sister Jacqueline and she also plays soccer. They are both good sisters."

But this sister, seems to be around Ryan a little bit more. "It's great having a twin," he

Boys soccer team on fire .... off to 10-0-2 start

By JAMIE POTE

The rich got richer this past week.

The Wilmington High boys soccer team played exceptional this past week knocking off Pentucket Regional, 1-0, Billerica, 3-0, and Rockport, 3-0, improving the team's record to 10-0-2, while, qualifying for the Division 2 state tournament once again and all the while posting three straight shut outs, numbers 6, 7 and 8 on the season.

"After that (6-3 win over) Manchester (Essex) thing, we have really played well," said head coach Steve Scanlon. "We seem to be playing more to our ability. We have come to life offensively instead of just relying on our defense. We also have had a lot of different kids coming through with goals, and big goals when we need them which is nice to see. We're getting a lot of different people chipping in."

Last Thursday night under the lights, Wilmington blanked a very pesky Pentucket Regional team, 1-0, despite the rain, raw weather and soaked field. Junior midfielder Jonathan Spurr nailed the game winning goal in the 76th minute on a set up by Jason Periera, who continues to have an outstanding season.

Senior goalie Vinny Papageorgiou made all four saves in the net, while, both Matt Figueiredo and striker Mike Condell played very well. That win officially put the team into the state tournament for the sixth time in the seven years Scanlon has been behind the bench.

"Rockport was a hard fought game," said Scanlon. "Both teams played well and fought hard. We were fortunate to get a late goal (by Spurr) to win it."

Two days later, Wilmington took on Billerica out of the Merrimack Valley Conference. Pereira led the attack with two goals, while Condell had the other. Chris Lavin put forth a strong effort picking up two assists, while, Figueiredo and Carlton Lentini had one each. Papageorgiou made five saves in the first 70 minutes to record the shut out, while, Craig Bush played the final ten minutes and stopped both shots he faced.

Scanlon said that Eric Parsons, Nick Jannone and Dylan Reed all played well in the winning effort.

Wildcats to face nemesis on Friday

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

By the time this paper hits the streets and by the time the actual game begins on Friday night at 6:00 pm, it could all line up differently. But if it doesn't, Friday night could very well be the biggest regular season boys soccer match in quite some time.

Before Wednesday's match against Georgetown, the Wildcats currently stand in first place in the Cape Ann League with an 8-0-2 league record and an 10-0-2 overall record. Masconomet, is right behind the Wildcats with one league game in hand. The Chieftains have an 8-0-1 league mark and an overall record of 11-0-3, which includes a win and a tie against Lowell in two nonleague games.

"Two years ago they beat us in the state tournament," said head coach Steve Scanlon. "And during my time here we've never beaten them. And I'm not sure if any of my father (Dick's) teams ever beat them. We've given them some good matches and we've tied them a few times, but they have always been our real nemesis."

Before they faced a very good Lynnfield team on Wednesday night as this paper hits the streets, Masco has been on quite the roll. The Chieftains have outscored their opponents 43-7 this season, including posting 10 shutouts. Over their last 11 games, they have outscored opponents, 33-1. "As usual they have some very polished players," said Scanlon. "And who all have great first touches. They are deep. They don't seem to lose much at all if anything when they substitute. They can sub six and seven guys in at a time and don't lose anything. They are all fit

"We played really good against Billerica," said Scanlon. "We moved the ball well and we got that early goal which helped. The kids played good and we had good efforts on both sides of the ball. But we scored twice in the first half and I think that took a lot out of them."

Scanlon added that Papageorgiou's presence alone seems to cause problems for other teams.

"I think he can take a lot out of teams," said Scanlon. "He just comes and gets so much of stuff that never develops. He gobbles up a lot of dangerous stuff."

On Monday afternoon, Wilmington took a long bus trip to the end of Rte. 128 and came away with a 3-0 win over Rockport. Condell led the offense with a goal and an assist, while, Pereira and Lentini had the other goals. Andrew Goosens and Figueiredo added one helper as well.

As big as the offense came through, Papageorgiou really preserved the game. With the Wildcats ahead 1-0 late in the first half, he was called into the TEWKSBURY — Six weeks ago you probably would never have guessed this would happen. On one side is Tewksbury, who returned almost its entire team, had many outstanding athletes, two very good goalscorers and an all-conference keeper. On the other side was Wilmington, who had just two seniors returning from its playoff season of a year ago.

So you would think, that six weeks into the season, that the more talented and more experienced Tewksbury team would prevail when the two teams met in a nonleague game played Saturday morning at Strong Field. Instead, it was Wilmington, who after the first 15 to 20 minutes of the game, clearly outplayed the Redmen in every facet of the game, coming away with a 1-0 victory.

Sophomore Brittany McLaughlin scored the lone goal of the game coming in the 60th minute on a nice pass from Julie Braid. McLaughlin took the pass coming in from the left wing and booted a left footed shot just inside the left hand post for the lone goal of the game.

Wilmington went on to defeat Rockport, 5-0, on Monday afternoon and with the two wins are now 7-4-3 overall and need just one more point in the team's final three games to qualify for the state tournament once again. Tewksbury, who has been decimated by injuries this season, has now dropped to 4-8-1 overall and have been shut out in two straight games.

Wilmington's head coach Sue Hendee admitted that before the Tewksbury game that she didn't think her team was playing up to par. But she saw a terrific all-around effort, starting with outstanding defensive and midfield play, which led to the forwards having multiple chances to score throughout the 90 minutes of play.

"The first ten minutes of the game I thought Tewksbury had the advantage, but once we got rolling I thought we dominated the rest of the game," said Hendee. "This is much better than (Thursday's 1-0 loss to Pentucket) or much better than anything this season. This is the kind of game that I think we can play but we didn't see it recently. Tewksbury played very physical and I thought it was good for us because we played smart. We didn't retaliate, we didn't complain as much as they could or should have which is a nice thing because it's not unusual to get hit."

Tewksbury could just never get in sync. Possession wise, it seemed like the Redmen would kick-and-run, have the ball bounce out of bounds, and hardly trying crosses or those short give and go passes.

"I thought we dominated the first 20 minutes of the first half, and then the rest of the half evened out," said Redmen coach Jack O'Brien. "But oh yeah, they clearly dominated in the second half. In that second half, they got into a rhythm. They got to play their style of play which is keeping the ball on the ground and making short passes. We kept sending the ball into the middle (of the field) which is their strength. On our offensive attacks, we just didn't use our strengths of the width of the field and using our speed. They got that one break, they got the goal in, they got the shot and we just didn't get that bounce to go our way."

"It was the same as the Lowell game. We outplayed them but I think it was in the final 12 minutes of the game they put one in and we just didn't get that lucky bounce. We're trying to maintain possession. We're trying to work on that as well as cutting down on corner kicks and penalties. We're trying to cut down on those things in practice. We're getting better at it. But what we're really trying to focus on is capitalizing on our shots. That's going to be huge for us to improve on and get out of this hole that we're in."

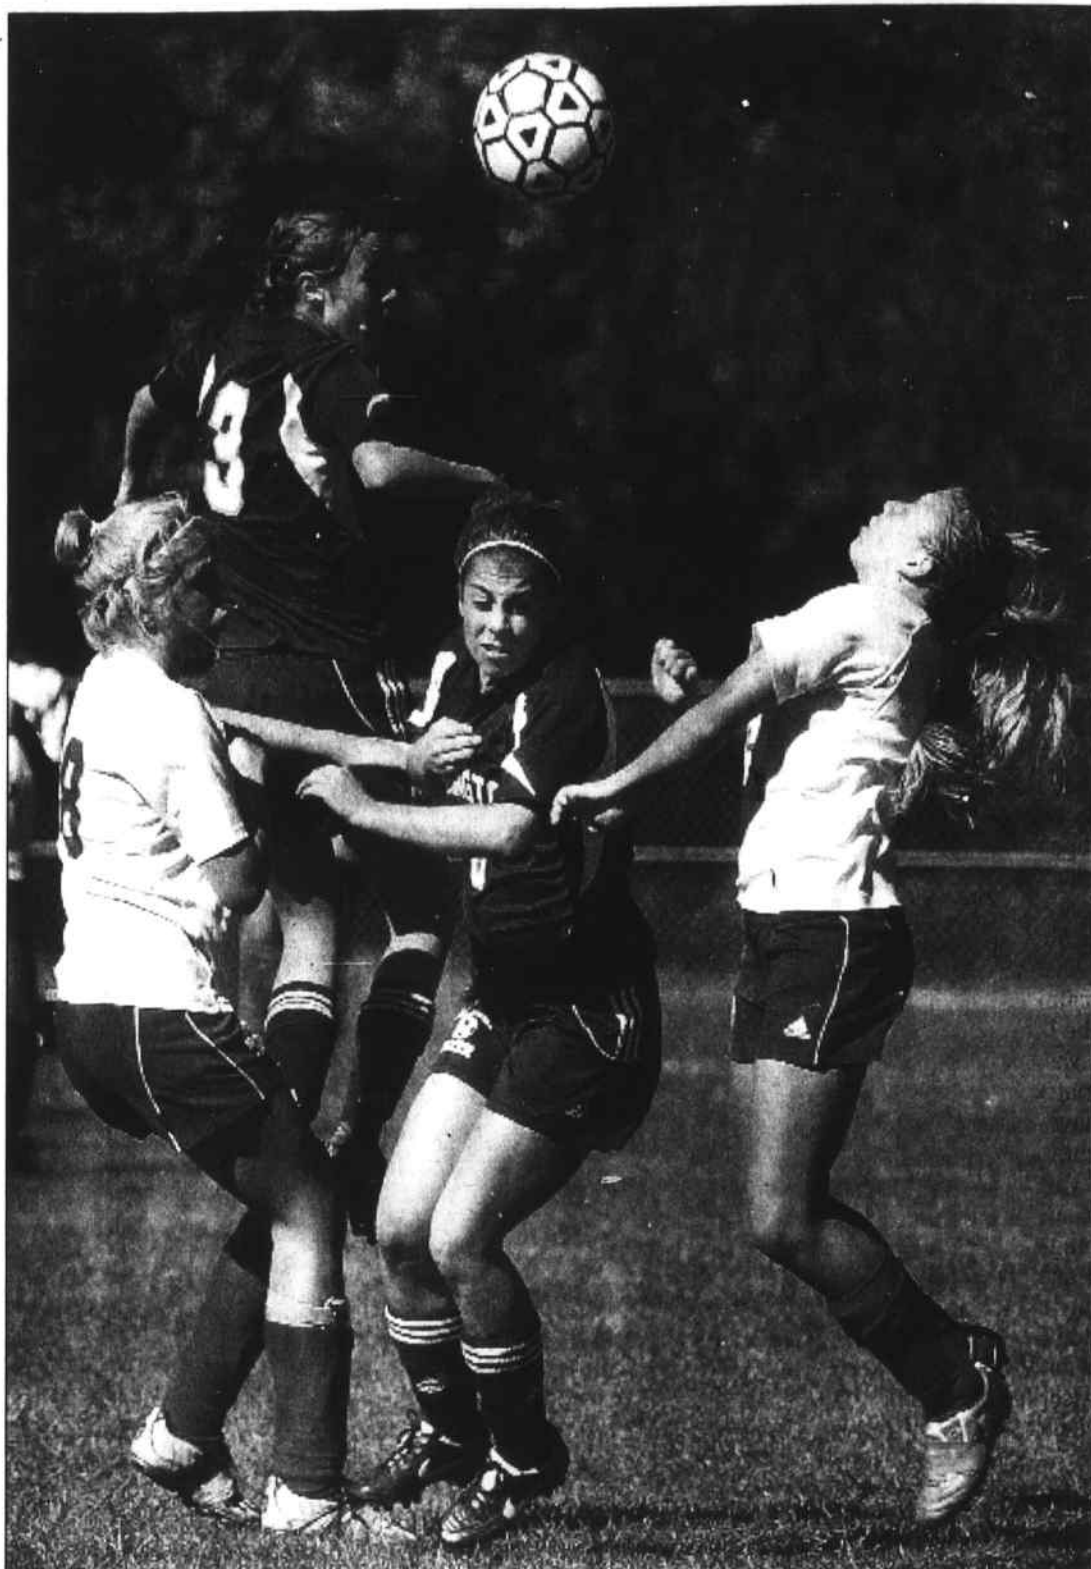

Neither team had a real legitimate chance to score in the first half until Wildcat senior captain Katie Cole made a nice move in the left hand corner and fired a shot dead on where keeper Mariah Messina made a nice catch save. Messina made another nice punch out save in the first few minutes of the second half to keep the game scoreless.

But with 20 minutes left in the game, McLaughlin's strong shot about waist high was good enough to give the 'Cats a much needed victory.

"Yeah it was a real nice goal," said Hendee. "It was good to see her use her left foot. We've been all working on finishing. Like I said before the season started, I was concerned with the balance in scoring and we have really stepped that up. I think we have only been shut out twice this season."

"If we can continue to play like this I would be very happy to take this team into the state tournament. I was a little bit leery of that in the past couple of games because we were flat but they know our backs have been up against the wall and we need these points in order to get into the tournament so hopefully next week we'll have enough points in order to go to the tourney."

Tewksbury never really tested Wilmington's keeper duo of Leah Potcner and Jackie

On Saturday morning the Wilmington High girls soccer team defeated Tewksbury, 1-0, in a non-league game played at Tewksbury's Strong Field. Kaitlyn Sousa won a head ball battle, while, teammate Katie Cole and Tewksbury's Kristina Zontini and Marissa Fierimonte get into the action.

(JoeBrownphotos.com)

Zaremba, who made three combined saves. A big part of that was the play of Wildcat sophomore sweeper-back Danielle Polcari.

"Danielle has been very consistent all season long," said Hendee. "That number 14 (Jess Pagonis) is big and strong, she's quick and she's a real good player. I thought Danielle did a real nice job of playing her position the right way. I don't think we have a great, fundamentally skilled team but I think if we play like we did today, and play together, we can be a very good team."

On Monday Wilmington continued to play very well walking all over Rockport, 5-0. McLaughlin, Lisa Rooker, Charlotte Jensen, Colleen Kennedy and Stephanie Benson each had one goal. Katie Cole contributed with two assists while Jensen and Allie Robbins had one. Potcner and Zaremba played one half each and combined for the team's sixth shutout. They have allowed only one goal in the last five games.

As for Tewksbury, they have plenty of time to regroup and work on its problems. After the loss to Wilmington, the Redmen had five days off before facing Billerica on the road Thursday, before hosting Medford on Friday in a non-league game. Thereafter, the Redmen will face Dracut, Chelmsford and Haverhill in three huge league games.

Tewksbury needs to defeat those teams in order to finish in second place in the MVC Division 2 Conference which is an automatic qualification for state tournament play, regardless of the team's overall record.

"Oh I'm concerned and this is a pretty big hole that we're in," said O'Brien. "But we're in a pretty good spot for second (place in the MVC Division 2 conference) so we still control our destiny in the league so we have to take care of business there. We have to work this out and we have to capitalize on our shots."

Former Cross Country star take Maine Marathon

Vassallo takes a giant stride forward

By LOUIE CIMAGLIA
Sports Correspondent

It seems that no one can keep up with Dan Vassallo these days.

The 22-year old Wilmington resident took his running career to an elite level winning the Maine Marathon on October 7th coming in at an incredible time of 2:36.54.

The former Wilmington High School standout had never ran a race of that distance. During his time at Colby College, Vassallo competed in numerous events, including the 1,500, 3,000, 5,000 and 10,000 meters. But none of those come close to running over 26 miles. Vassallo stepped up his training to compensate.

"Simply put, (I ran) more miles," said Vassallo. "I had longer middle of the week runs. I didn't do as many sprint workouts as I normally do before a race, the shortest repeat workout I did was three miles. I did an 18-mile run at marathon pace, and I did a 26.5 mile long run."

Vassallo quipped that his training "still didn't help in the last six miles."

Vassallo's wise training eliminated any shock he might have had with running such a cumbersome distance.

Vassallo mentioned the weather, and the perfect running conditions. The Maine Marathon was on the same day as the Chicago Marathon, and it was very hot in the Midwest about two weeks ago. Also, a day before, the mercury was hovering around 85 in Boston. Vassallo also noted that he drove up to Maine in a driving rainstorm.

He also mentioned that the competition was formidable. Although it didn't really matter, since Vassallo's closest competitor was six minutes behind him. Vassallo also shattered the Maine Marathon record by over three minutes. The man who came in third, Byrne Decker, has won the Maine Marathon six times. He crossed the line at 2:35.56.

According to the Maine Marathon website, the course is described as such: "The Sportshoe Center Maine Marathon features an out-and-back course for all three races - marathon, relay and half marathon. The spectator-friendly course starts and finishes along our beautiful inner bay - the Back Cove. The first and last four miles are mostly flat. All three races are together for the first six miles before the half marathon heads back to Portland. In between, runners enjoy Mackworth Point in Falmouth (just north of Mackworth Island), a short but gorgeous detour off Route 1. The course then returns to Route 1 and turns onto Route 88, where runners pass many stately homes. The marathon and relay continue along Route 88 to Yarmouth for a 2.5-mile loop around a rural neighborhood before rejoining Route 88 for the return trip to Portland. The marathon course features a mixture of rolling hills and flat sections between Miles 5 and 17, and is mostly flat or downhill for the final nine miles."

Vassallo's incredible time was not only enough to win the Maine Marathon, it would have been enough to put him in the elite category of runners in the Boston Marathon.

"I've been planning on running the Boston Marathon since I was in high school. My plans for that were postponed for four years because of college, but now what I'm done with college I can look forward to that," said Vassallo. He also said, "it would be nice to go with the best."

Wilmington's Dan Vassallo won the Maine Marathon on October 7th.

Vassallo also chuckled over the thought that he earned $500 in that race. "It's pretty cool to think that I'm a professional runner."

Vassallo mentioned four people that made his marathon experience a success. He spoke a great deal with Fernando Braz, a Merrimack Valley running coach. Vassallo works in the same office building. Braz's strategy for Vassallo was to break up the race into five mile segments. This relieves some of the burden on the mind.

"This is a lot easier than saying, '25 miles to go, 24 miles to go,'" said Vassallo.

This way, if one segment isn't great, one can move on and focus on the next segment. Vassallo said his first segment was perfect, he was right where he wanted to be. In the second, third and fourth legs, he distanced himself from the pack and basically separated himself from all other runners. Vassallo said that he was a little to excited for the middle portion of the race, which caught up with him a little bit in the final stretch. Regardless, Vassallo's plan worked to record-breaking perfection.

Vassallo also wanted to thank Jack Cushing, Frank Kelley and Tom Bradley. "Without them, I wouldn't be where I am now."

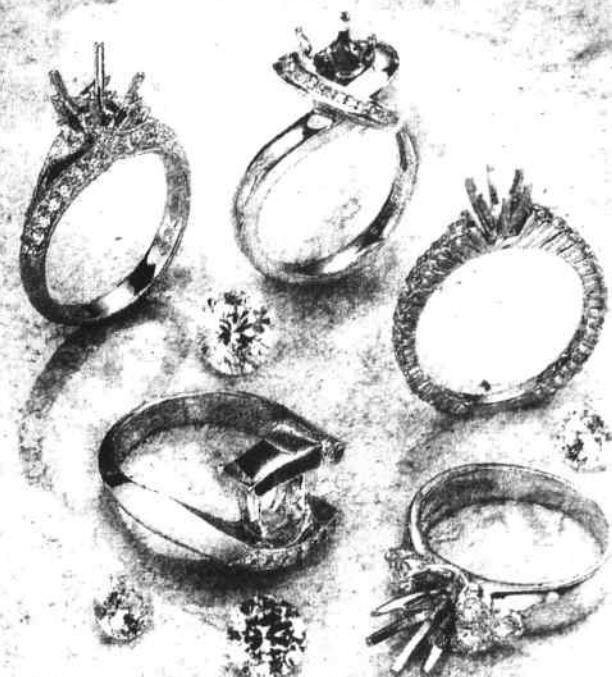

"I have been receiving so many congratulations over the last week, and I guess I have a fan base now."

Vassallo was delighted by that notion.

"I guess I have a lot of people following me now." Following, maybe. But keeping up? Not a chance.

Football team takes a stand against Generals

By JAMIE POTE

HAMILTON - For the second time in three weeks, the Wilmington High School football team took advantage of the throwing arm of Kyle Moon to exploit another team's weakness. The senior quarterback completed 9-of-11 passes for 156 yards including a pair of touchdown strikes to Tom Barry and Steve Stewart to help guide the Wildcats back to the win column with a convincing 31-7 victory over Hamilton-Wenham on Saturday afternoon.

Wilmington is now 5-1 on the season and 4-1 in the Cape Ann League and now have four league games left with Triton Regional, Ipswich, North Andover and Pentucket remaining before the non-league tilt on Turkey Day against Tewksbury. Hamilton-Wenham fell to 3-3 overall.

"Kyle did a nice job. A real nice job. I was pleased with him," said head coach Bob Almeida, who improved to 99-28-1 in his 12 seasons at the helm. "He played with confidence and he made a big play waiting for Stewart to get past the safety on the fade. He waited for it and it was a nice play."

"Honestly we're not that big to sit there and play smash-mouth football for four quarters. What we did today is our kind of balance (offensive attack) - it's what we like to be in terms of us being balanced."

Moon connected with Barry in the team's opening drive which was set up by a 38-yard punt return by Ernie Mello, who followed with a 25-yard rush putting the ball at the Generals' 7 yard line. Moon then found Barry, who caught his second TD pass in the past three games, giving Wilmington the quick 7-0 lead after Stewart's first of four PAT kicks were good. Mello finished the game with 132 rushing yards and now has 1,097 on the season.

Wilmington increased its lead to 14-0 early in the second quarter when Corey Groves capped off a 12-play, 51-yard drive. Mello took the ball eight times during that series for 41 yards, but Groves took the final two carries for a combined four yards, the latter from three yards out for the touchdown making it 14-0 with 8:45 left in the first half.

On the very next play from scrimmage, HW climbed right back into the game as running back Jake Cotter took the ball up the middle on a run, and bounced off a big pile moving to his left and down the sideline untouched for a 60-yard touchdown run making it 14-7.

After two sloppy series in which the Wildcats turned the ball over twice, the 'Cats went into the locker room with a 14-7 lead. That score didn't stay that way for long as the Wildcats completely dominated play in the third quarter and the entire second half.

"We made some mistakes in the first half," said Almeida. "(Hamilton-Wenham) is without two of their linemen, and we're down to our fourth and fifth (offensive) guard and it just caused some confusion up front. But I was pleased with the outcome. That's a good football team over there and I don't care if they are missing two kids or not they are a good team."

Mello opened the game wide open when he scored his 19th touchdown of the season capping off a 10-play, 73-yard drive to begin the third quarter with a big 10-yard touchdown run up the middle on a critical, fourth-and-five situation. After HW went three-and-out, Moon found a wide open Stewart for what turned out to be a 72-yard touchdown pass making it 28-7 with 27 seconds left in the third quarter. Stewart then put the icing on the cake when he booted a 29-yard field goal with 1:54 left in the game.

Defensively Wilmington played very well limiting the Generals to just 22 passing yards and 107 total yards of offense. Both Groves and J.J. Lyons recovered fumbles, while Lyons had a sack. Mike Pizzotti, Evan Borsetti, Kenny Joyce and Johnny Kincaid were also in on two quarterback sacks.

"J.J. was phenomenal," said Almeida. "He had one series where he just completely took over. He's a heck of a player."

Wilmington High School quarterback Kyle Moon had another big performance completing 9-of-11 passes for 156 yards with two touchdowns in the team's 31-7 win over Hamilton-Wenham on Saturday afternoon.

Wildcats to face nemesis on Friday

players and the reason I've been hearing is why they are so successful this year is they have so many unselfish players. They are all on the same page, they are sharing the ball and getting a lot of kids involved with the scoring. And their keeper is as good as any - he has 10 shutouts already. They've done well."

But so have Wilmington. The Wildcats have outscored opponents 29-7 this season with 8 shut outs. Take away a 6-3 sloppy win over Manchester-Essex and the 'Cats have given up just four goals in the other 11 games.

"My kids have been playing with a lot more confidence," said Scanlon. "Especially because we've been scoring more goals. They have come alive and have had an extra jump in us lately. It's been exciting. It's been a lot of fun this season."

But like all NFL coaches say, don't fall into the trap.

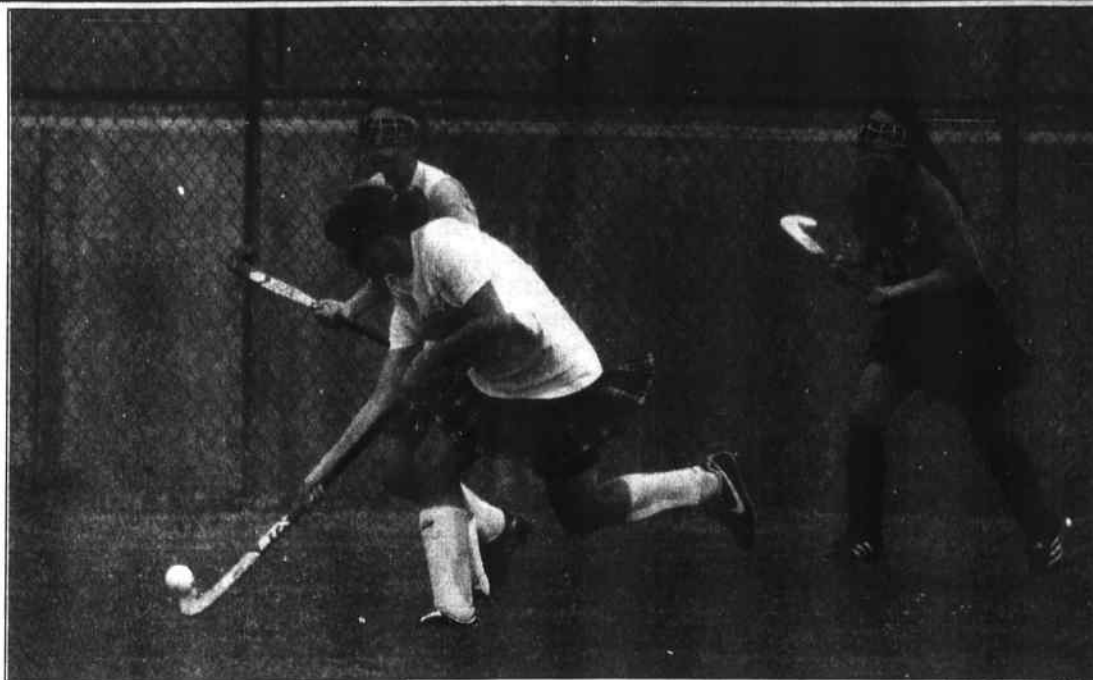

"Georgetown is going to be a very tough game for us and the same with Lynnfield who plays Masco (on Wednesday)," said Scanlon. "You don't want to fall into that trap since everyone seems to excited about Friday night. But Georgetown is 8-3-3 and I heard they pack everyone in defensively - I think their goalie had 22 saves the other day."

Wilmington has never won a Cape Ann League title in boys soccer since arriving to the league in 1995. Both the 1996 and 1997 teams went to the Division 3 state final and Eastern Mass final but never did win a league title. After hosting Georgetown and Masco, Wilmington wraps up its league schedule with a very good North Andover squad who is 9-4-1 currently. Masco, on the other hand, has Lynnfield, Wilmington, Rockport and North Andover, who have a combined record of 32-15-6.

"I just tell the kids to take care of what's in front of you and not worry about anything else," said Scanlon. "You can't try to figure things out because it never happens the way you think it's going to happen and plus you can't look ahead."

Game time for Friday night's match-up is 6:00 pm, at Wilmington's Alumni Field. And the team would like nothing better than a standing room only crowd cheering them on to a victory.

penalty kick on an accidental hand ball by us in the (18' yard) box," said Scanlon. "Vinny came up with a huge save on the penalty kick and then two minutes later we went right down the field and scored to make it 2-0. I think that goal really took the wind out of Rockport's sails. If he doesn't make that save, you're talking a brand new game with Rockport having all kinds of life and the game being tied 1-1 at halftime.

"Rockport always gives us trouble. They play hard, they play the game the right way and they are well coached."

The Wilmington High boys cross country team improved to 2-7 on the season after knocking off North Reading, 20-35. Sophomore Tom Valente led the way for the Wildcats coming in second overall at 16:33 and he was followed by teammates Andrew Marra (3rd, 16:59), Ed Silva (4th, 17:43), Jim DiNuccio (5th, 17:48) and Zack Sears (6th, 17:54) as having five of the top six finishers proved to be the difference in the win.

"This is a nice win for us," said coach Tom Bradley. "This is the best showing in terms of staying as close as possible together. We have meets where the top five are strung out four to five minutes. But I thought the kids all ran well, especially Jim and Zack who have really stepped it up."

On the girls side, they were defeated 22-33 to the same North Reading team. Wilmington is now 3-6 on the season.

"We knew this would be tough and that we had to put two or three of our girls with their top three and it did not work out," said Bradley.

North Reading had the top two finishers, followed by Natalie Russo of Wilmington who was third coming in at 18:15. Ali Lyman and Nikki Sirignano were fifth and sixth overall at 19:53 and 20:00, respectively. Following them were Lori Fletcher (9th overall at 20:37) and Cali Pepper (10th at 20:45) who continue to come along way.

"Lori has been battling leg problems and it was great seeing her in the top five," said Bradley. "Se has been working through the injuries. Cali was terrific. After a slow start to the season, she is showing of late the talent she has and is finishing where she should."

Field Hockey

After seven games without a goal, sophomore Sarah Choi found the back of the net giving the Wilmington High Field Hockey team an early lead but Pentucket came back and scored a goal late in the first half and added another in the second half to hang on with the 2-1 win.

Kerry Hanafin picked up the assist. The biggest performance on the day was given by netminder Katie Riley, who turned away 24 shots. Jackie Mullens, Rachel Haggerty and Sasha Reilly all played well.

On Monday Wilmington was defeated by Newburyport, 1-0, putting the team's record to 1-14 on the season.

Letter to the Sports Editor

Old soccer equipment is needed

Dear Jamie:

My name is Maggie Brown and I am an eighth grader at the Wilmington Middle School. I am the goalkeeper for the FC Stars, a club soccer team that practices in the Acton area.

For the second consecutive year, coaches from the Stars organization will travel to the Lake Atitlan region in Guatemala. The village in this area of Guatemala was totally destroyed by a devastating mudslide in 2006. The small village was virtually buried and the lives of hundreds were lost. In January 2007, FC Stars coaches made their first trip to the Guatemalan village and ran a soccer camp to teach the basics of the game to the children who had lost everything. Each afternoon, nearly 200 children from the age of 5-12 attended the camp.

The experience was extraordinary for these children who had never had the opportunity to compete in formal soccer match. The villagers are very poor and some are disabled. When the coaches travel to the village, they take "gently used" soccer equipment donated by people in the United States. I have been given permission by the Wilmington Youth Soccer Board to collect soccer equipment the next 2 Saturdays at the Shawsheen Field. The dates are Sat October 20th and Sat October 27th. I will be collecting equipment from 9AM to 2PM. All soccer equipment including balls, cleats, shin pad, and jerseys would be most appreciated.

One pair of soccer socks may not seem like much but it can bring the biggest smile to a Guatemalan child who has nothing. It is a good time to clean out closets and garages and bring all the equipment down to the Shawsheen Field. Additional information can be found at http://www.accesssportsamerica.org/news/2007\_Guatemala.html

Thank You,
Maggie Brown, Wilmington resident

Youth travel soccer round-up

The Wilmington GU10-3 team played their best match of the Fall season with a 2-0 win over Wakefield, avenging a 3-2 loss earlier in the season. It was a solid performance from the opening kick-off to the final whistle. Caitlin Gilgun, Jayne Wizerbacki and Daria Bakhtiari played lock-down defense for the entire match, forming a virtual wall in front of the Wilmington goal. Bakhtiari got credit for the first goal as her free kick deflected off of a Wakefield defender past a stunned goalkeeper.

Sydney Smith weaved in and out of the Wakefield defense and set up Heather Niemiec for the second goal. Niemiec managed to head a bouncing ball ahead to herself and then one-touched it over the goalkeeper's head, bringing the crowd to their feet. Olivia O'Regan and Stephanie Figuerido kept the pressure on until the match ended as Wilmington notched their second win of the season.

Under 10-3A Girls

The Wilmington Wildcats U10-3 A team came back with a successful win against their strong opponent Wakefield. It was working as a team that made this win possible. Heather Niemiec scores a goal for the Wildcats.

Wakefield had difficulty breaking through the great wall of defense led by Jane Wierzbicki, Caitlin Gilgun, Julianna Mastroianni, Hannah Stark, and Daria Bakhtiari. The Wildcats offense was quick on their golden light feet and had extraordinary control of the ball dominating the game by the forwards, Julianna Iocco, Stephanie Figueiredo, Sara Berube, Sydney Smith, Olivia O'Regan.

Wilmington Pop Warner round-up

The Boys of the Wilmington A-Team had another great win over the Waltham Devil Dogs this past Sunday. As fans packed the sidelines, the A-team boys lined up and kicked the ball off to Waltham. Our defense came charging onto the field first, only to hit their rivals so hard they caused a fumble. The ball was ultimately recovered by Waltham and it was second down with the ball on the 40 yard line.

The Wilmington defense still charging after the Waltham offense caused another fumble which was then recovered by Wilmington's own Kyle Albanese. The Wildcats took over on the Waltham 45 yard line. Johnny Parson's gets the ball on first down and ran for a gain of 15 yards. Great blocking by Jimmy Welch and the offensive line that held the Waltham defense all game. The next play, Matt McKenna runs for 10 yards and another Wilmington first down.

The Wildcats line up again and Quarterback Matt Ferreira hands the ball to Johnny Parson's who marched ahead for another 5 yards. It's now First and goal on the Waltham 5 yard line. The offensive line for the Wildcats did a great job opening a hole for Matt McKenna to dance his way into the end zone for the first of many Wildcat touchdowns. The extra point attempt was no good making the score 6-0 Wilmington.

Next drive, its first down for Waltham, and our mighty defense knocked them back five yards. Great tackling by Jimmy Welch, Stephen Reynolds, Johnny Parsons and Nate downs. In the Second quarter Waltham tried to get something started, but our defense wouldn't allow it, and caused another fumble that was recovered by Wilmington's Matthew Ferreira. Wildcat's take over on Waltham's 40 yard line. First down, they threw a pass to Jimmy Welch for a gain of seven yards bringing up 2nd and 3, until Johnny Parson's blasts up the middle a 10 yard gain and another Wildcat First down.

After a few great drives, Wilmington fumbles and its recovered by Waltham. The Wildcat Defense held strong and forced the Devil Dogs to go 3 and out. Waltham got ready to punt, but they were shut down by big bad Johnny Parsons who blocked the punt. Wilmington gets the ball back and marches down the field for another Wildcat touchdown. Matt Ferreira kicked the extra point making the score 14-0 Wilmington.

Late in the fourth quarter the Wildcats give the ball to Ed Delucia who ran as fast as lightning behind the great blocker Stephen Reynolds. Ed's run put the Wildcats in scoring range again. They march down to the 5 yard line and Matthew Costello breaks through the middle and into the end zone making the score 20-0 Wilmington. It was a great game played by all. Congratulations on another Wildcat victory boys, your hard work is truly paying off. A special thanks to the coaches, parents and cheerleaders who support the Pop Warner A-team each week.

D1 Wildcats

Strong pass protection from the offensive line allowed Wilmington's D1 Wildcats to use an array of offensive weapons to overpower a solid Waltham team, 26-18, for their sixth straight win of the season this past Sunday.

The Waltham Devil Dogs jumped out to a quick six-point lead by driving the field and scoring on their first possession. Then Johnny Gallasso and Peter Daley geared up, brought the Wildcat defense to life and stopped the Devil Dogs one-point conversion run cold.

The Wildcat offense then had their turn with the ball. Quarterback Ryan Carrocino would direct the offense from the Waltham 45 yard line into the end zone with some spectacular plays. Highlights of the drive included power runs up the middle by Shaughn Hiltz; a 20-yard pass to James O'Regan; a catch over the middle by Kevin Keane for a 15 yard gain; and finally Hiltz blasting through the Devil Dog defense from the 4-yard line for Wilmington's first score.

Kevin Keane kicked the successful two-point conversion. Wilmington led after the first Quarter, 8 - 6.

The Wildcat defense led by Matt Penney held Waltham to mostly short yardage plays. Michael Carrocino and Alex Hiltz were beating their blockers and getting to the ball carriers. Tommy Simmons and Cody Wile were living in the Waltham backfield. The penetration of Johnny Reynolds, Cullen Maroney, and Connor Bennett made passing the ball impossible for the Devil Dog's offense. The defense stepped up and played tough.

The offense maintained its rhythm and continued where it left off on their next possession. This time the Wildcats would march the ball 50 yards for a score. In this series, Carrocino would again show his passing prowess. He connected with Shaughn Hiltz over the middle for a 20-yard gain. Then he found a wide-open Dylan Masiello in the flat for another 14 yards.

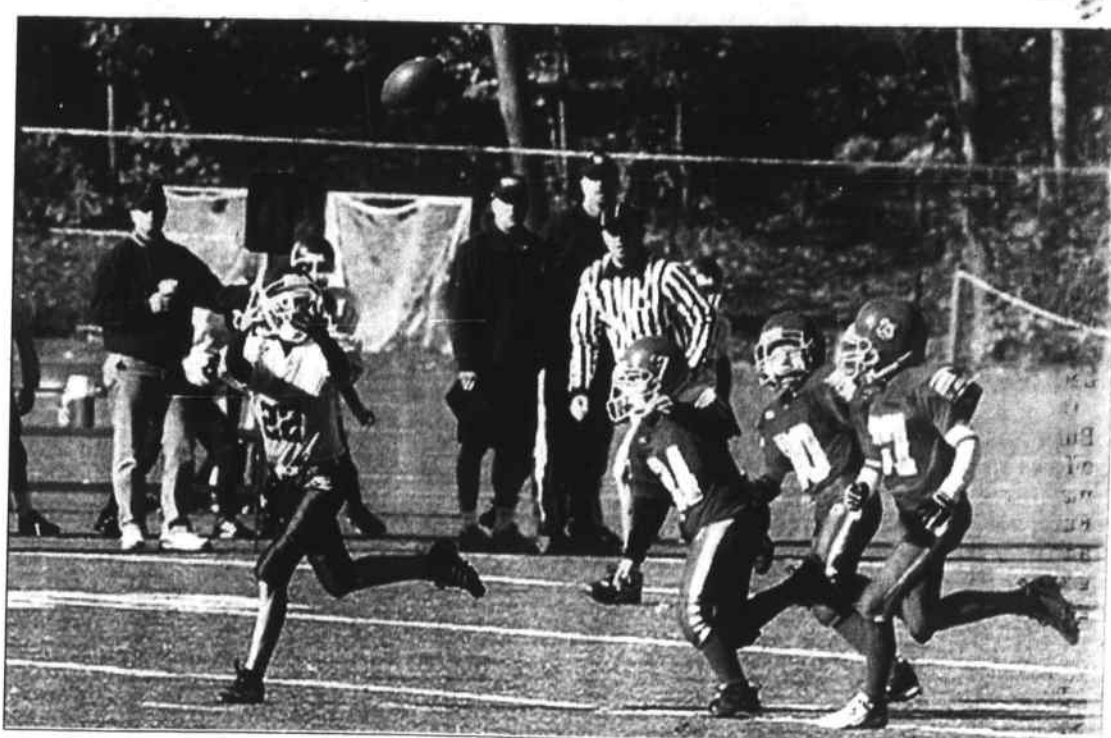

The drive would be capped off by a 15-yard throw into the end zone to a double covered James O'Regan, who managed to make the catch despite the efforts of two Waltham defenders. The success of the Wildcat passing attack was a direct result of the effort given by the offensive line which included Connor Bennett at center, Ryan Broderick and Nick Cimaglia on the right side, and Ryan Adams and Robert Fullerton on the left side.

The extra point conversion was unsuccessful. Wilmington led at Halftime: 14 - 6.

The second half saw the Wildcat defense holding the Devil Dogs in check. Tommy Magee and Johnny Pasquariello were in on multiple tackles. Andrew Vellucci and Andrew Murray controlled the interior line making it difficult for Waltham to run up the middle. Zach Toto and Charles Mingella made key hits that forced Waltham to punt and give the ball back to the potent Wildcat offense.

The Wildcats' final drive would start at their own 30-yard line. Over the course of the game, Carrocino would complete 9 passes to 5 different receivers keeping the Waltham defense off balance. On this possession, the Wildcat aerial attack would use Chris Sartori's quickness to pass over the middle. Carrocino also went back to Masiello for a 22-yard gain. Intermingled with the passing were some explosive runs by Penney and Hiltz, facilitated by the dominating play of Michael Amato and Michael Daly on the offensive line.

The 70-yard drive was completed when James O'Regan rushed into the end zone from 9 yards out behind a key block by left tackle Robert Fullerton. The extra point conversion was unsuccessful. Wilmington led 20 - 6.

Above, James O'Regan stretches his arms to make a reception on a long pass, and below, Shaughn Hiltz carries the ball while getting blocks from Matt Penney #28, Ryan Broderick #78 and Ryan Carrocino #10 during the Wilmington Pop Warner D1 team's game held this past weekend.

Waltham was not about to give up. On the ensuing kickoff, the Devil Dogs broke through Wilmington's special teams and scored. It was now 20-12. It only took seconds for the Wildcats to re-establish their momentum. Not to be outdone, Matt Penney returned the favor and ran Waltham's kickoff back 65 yards for a Wilmington touchdown on the very next play.

Waltham reached the end zone once more near the end of the game but the Wildcats held strong for a final score of 26-18.

Nice effort Wilmington

Dear Jamie:

On October 5, 2007 the Wilmington football team traveled to Topsfield to take on the Chieftains. Both teams were undefeated at the time. Even though Wilmington came up short, their effort and toughness was hard to miss.

Despite being outweighed on the line by 50-100 pounds per man at times, they out fought and out tackled Masco for three quarters. Eventually Masco's size won out but certainly not from Wilmington's lack of effort.

The best of luck the remainder of the season to Coach Almeida and his staff. Also, I would like to commend the band, cheerleaders, parents and students who supported their team with class.

Sincerely,
Victor Dinarello, Topsfield

The camps will provide an opportunity for players to improve their conditioning, sharpen their skills, and fine tune their games in preparation for regular season practice which begins on November 26.

The program will include eight full court games, full court passing, dribbling, defense, and conditioning drills, intensive work on shooting with the shooting coordinator, and individual skill work (both post and perimeter drills).

Camp enrollment will be strictly limited to 72 players per session. All previous sessions have sold out. The camp tuition is $140.00. Enrollment has already begun.

The coaching staffs are made up of area high school coaches and the camp is under the direction of Brad Simpson of Wakefield and former North Reading coach Barry Kipnes.

Enjoying Field Hockey while battling an illness

Meghan's miracle continues on the field

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Being 15 years old is never easy. Being a sophomore in high school can be difficult whether struggling with insecurities, bullies, bigger classrooms, making friends, joining an athletic team or just everyday life as a teenager.

For Meghan McCarthy, she has a double dosage of trying to deal with all of those common high school problems. Yet she's met those challenges head on and really doesn't let any of that stand in her way. A member of the JV Field Hockey team, who has two goals and an assist this season, McCarthy has strived in the classroom and on the athletic fields this fall season after going through brain surgery on June 6th as doctors found a cyst on top of a tumor located in her brain.

The incredible story, her courage and her ability to just try to be a "normal 15-year-old kid" is so extraordinary. But for her, McCarthy is compelled not to go into any details about it. Instead she just wants to hang her with her teammates, get ready to hand out a ribbon to senior Laura Callan during Senior Day, and just go about her business like she did before June 6th.

"Just watching her (as a member of the JV team), she's obviously an awesome kid," said varsity field hockey coach Pat Ryser. "She plays really tough out there. She obviously wants to be out there and be a part of everything. I just think she's an inspiration to all of these girls just of what she does out there and how she's so driven. Nothing is going to change. She does a great job out there (on the field). She's a tough kid, a real tough kid." The only thing that has changed on the athletic fields for Meghan since the news of her tumor, "is running."

"The problem is that she was sick all summer so she wasn't able to do any conditioning at all," said her mother Lee before Monday afternoon's varsity and junior varsity field hockey games against Lowell at home. "When she started, she still had the after affects of the radiation when practice first started. She didn't do any captains practices so she had no conditioning whatsoever. She lost 20 pounds and ended up losing a lot of her strength. It was a bonus during the preseason (that she didn't have to run a lot) but not the case when the season started (because she was behind)."

While Meghan lost the 20 pounds, she never lost her skills with the field hockey stick. She picked it up for the first time last year and seems like a natural. She's aggressive to the ball, has a real powerful swing and has scored two goals this season and assisted on another.

"Field Hockey is my favorite (sport)," answered Meghan, who is also a forward on the basketball team and a shot putter on the spring track team. "I've been playing basketball since I was little and I'm sick of it."

After going through brain surgery on June 6th where doctors reduced the fluid around the mass and a did a biopsy, Meghan was in ICU for the next five days. Then on June 19th, doctors told Meghan that her tumor remained inoperable due to the location and the fact that it is fast growing and very aggressive. Thus Meghan went through radiation and chemotherapy, which began on June 28th and went for 42 straight days.

Yet despite all of that, she's in the classroom, she's hanging with her friends, she's hitting a field hockey ball down the left sideline of the field and she's congratulating her teammates after a goal, or a win. Yet she does all of this with a big smile - no complaints whether she's feeling great or not so great.

"I'll just go home and do homework," she said before her mother added, "She's definitely more tired lately because she's not in any treatment right now because her platelets are so low. She went through radiation and chemo through the middle of August but then it had to stop because her platelets are so low."

"Most medical people have told us that with her red count being so low that most people can't even get out of bed and here she is able to get out of bed everyday, go to school everyday, go to practice and games and come home and do homework. She crashes, there's no doubt about it she crashes and burns but she's doing it everyday. So so far, so good."

And for Meghan it is good. Outside of school, field hockey and hospital visits, she enjoys shows like "Desperate Housewives" and "Grey's Anatomy" and she plays with her puppy "Chloe" even though it's "a pain in the butt." And while she'll sit and watch her shows, pat her puppy or do her homework in the "peaceful home" because her two brothers Teagan and Tyler are off in college, Meghan's gearing up for her next challenge of playing basketball. Her father, Jim, said his "Angel" still has that ability to find hit a swish with the best of them.

"She beats me all of the time," he said, before his daughter chirped in, "I could always beat you Dad."

Oberg and Devlin commit to collegiate programs

Going big time

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Over the dozen years of being head baseball coach at Tewksbury Memorial High School, Ron Drouin has sent off plenty of players to terrific Division one, two and three college programs. Just recently two more got added to that list.

Senior right handed pitcher Scott Oberg and senior third baseman Pat Devlin both agreed to continue their baseball playing days at the University of Connecticut and UMass Lowell, respectively.

"I'm thrilled for both of them," said Drouin. "They both have done the job in the classroom and they represent their families, the Town of Tewksbury and the baseball program with the utmost class. I'm thrilled with the choices they made. I know the Blue/Gray Baseball Classic which was played in North Carolina.

Oberg will be the school's second student-athlete in the past three years to play sports at UConn, joining former softball stand-out catcher Danielle Delponte. Oberg said things got easier for him when he learned more about the academic programs UConn offered.

"I want to major in Sports Management and (Vermont and Maris) didn't offer that," he said. "That played a big part in the decision."

Drouin added that Oberg really can't go wrong with this choice.

"It's a great choice," he said. "First of all he gets to play baseball in the Big East which is a real good conference. And UConn has been in a better kid to go to UConn than Scotty Oberg. It's a home run for him, it's a home run for his family and I think it's going to be a home run for the UConn baseball program."

As for Devlin he has verbally committed to play baseball for UMass Lowell. He was recruited as an infielder, but could find work elsewhere as well.

"They are projecting him as an infielder," said Drouin. "But they love his athleticism which gives him more versatility and gives them a few more options."

Devlin was named to the MVC All-Conference squad as a junior after he batted .342 with a team high 3 home runs. In addition he finished with 17 RBIs, had 29 hits and led the team in fielding per-that if I were in their shoes I would make the same decisions."

Oberg was heavily recruited by many Division 1 schools and he narrowed his choices to the University of Vermont, Maris College and UConn. He said it became pretty easy which school to choose.

"I went to UConn on an official visit with my parents," he said. "I really liked the size of the school, the academics it offered and I really liked the baseball program where it's heading and the coaching staff."

Upon driving home from that late September visit, the Obergs weren't even half way back to Tewksbury before Scott made up his mind.

"It was about an hour after we left there and we were driving back is when I made the final decision," he said. "I called them up and said 'this is the place I want to go'."

Oberg finished last season with a 7-1 record on the mound including one save. In 55.2 innings, he struck out 63 batters and walked nine, four of which came intentionally. He finished the season with an 0.98 ERA and was named the Merrimack Valley Conference Division 2 Player of the Year, the Lowell Sun Player of the Year, and both a Boston Herald and Boston Globe All Scholastic not to mention being a member of the upper half of the Big East standings so that's also a plus. From every guy I've talked to, they all feel that Scotty has unlimited potential. I think it's a real good choice for a lot of reasons. His parents will be able to get there for a weekend game since it's only a few hours away. He's going to get a great education.

"There's something to be said about going to a Division 1 college where in the winter you get to go to see the basketball team take on the best teams in the country, and then in the fall you get to see the football team take on West Virginia and Louisville and then in the spring he gets to go out and compete against those same teams. I think it's a win-win situation for him and his family. You won't find percentage, playing a flawless hot corner. He also saw limited time on the mound finishing with a 1-1 record and an 2.86 ERA.

"I think this is tremendous for Patrick," said Drouin. "Whenever you can get a high end education at reasonable dollars nowadays, while playing baseball for a nationally ranked division two program, who plays as finer of a schedule as any other program in the country, it's money in the bag. UMass Lowell plays all of the best schools and they don't duck anyone. And on top of that Patrick will play in one of the best facilities in New England with LeLachur Park. His family will be 15 minutes away to come and watch him anytime they like. This is another win-win situation for everyone."

Shawsheen Tech Sports Wrap-Up

Rams golf team about to end another magical season

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Shawsheen Tech golf team is on the verge of wrapping up two of the most remarkable back to back seasons you will ever see. With three more victories this past week, including consecutive 9-0 wins over CAC rival Greater Lawrence on Monday and Tuesday the Rams improved their record to 12-0 on the season and clinched their third straight CAC championship, as they closed in on a perfect season with only a match against CAC rival Northeast on Wednesday standing in the way of perfection.

After going 13-1 last season, this group of Rams is now 25-1 in their last 26 matches and is looking strong as the sectional tournament approaches next Monday.

In their sweep over greater Lawrence the Rams were lead by the outstanding play of number one player and reigning CAC MVP Brandon Porter, who shot a remarkable 1-under par 34 at Hickory Hill on Monday and was nearly as impressive on Tuesday, shooting a 36.

Number two player D.J. Shepherd shot 38 on back to back days while number three Jon McDonald shot a 45 on Monday and came back on Tuesday to fire an impressive 39.

Number four player Steve Tello of Tewksbury shot an impressive 38 on Tuesday after firing a 44 on Monday, and is playing some great golf as the post season approaches.

"Steve played great today (Tuesday)," Shawsheen coach Tom Struthers said. He was on his way to an even par, but sometimes it is hard to maintain the high level of play when the competition is not playing as well and you sometimes have to wait a while between shots."

The Rams also got some great efforts out of players who played just one of the two matches on Monday and Tuesday. On Monday the Rams saw Ron Stocker shot a 39, while Jason Geick shot a 42 and Wilmington senior Keith Quigley shot a 45. Chris LaMaccia shot a 49.

On Tuesday, the Rams got a 39 from junior Ryan Strazzere and a 42 from sophomore Chris Johanson.

The Rams came into the matches against Greater Lawrence on the heels of an exciting 7-2 win over Billerica last Friday afternoon at Billerica Country Club. The Rams dominated in terms of the final score, but many of the individual matches were very close, with Porter once again leading the way shooting a 37, while Shepherd shot a 38, but won only 5.5-3.5, and Tello and freshman Dan Jacobs each shot a 39, but were only able to halve their matches.

It was in the best ball pairings of Porter and Tello, Shepherd and Brett Frederickson, and McDonald and Jacobs where the Rams made the difference with each group winning their pairings.

On Thursday of this week the Rams will compete in the CAC League championship where they will clearly be the favorite going in and next Monday, Porter, Shepherd, McDonald and Tello will compete in the sectional tournament at Far Corners in Boxford.

Girls Soccer

The Shawsheen girls soccer team completed a week of play that clearly showed the separation between the top of the CAC and everybody else. After rolling to an 8-0 victory over CAC rival Lynn Tech last Friday and a 7-0 rout of non-league rival PMA Methuen last Wednesday, the Lady Rams moved to the toughest part of their schedule later in the week and early this week.

The results were mixed for Shawsheen as they suffered a tough 2-1 loss to fellow CAC front runner Greater Lowell on Saturday afternoon before nipping Blackstone by a score of 1-0 in a non-league game on Monday and battling to a 1-1 tie against another top CAC team, Northeast on Tuesday afternoon.

After the up and down week, the Lady Rams record sits at 10-2-2 and they are tied for first place in the CAC with Greater Lowell with one more game against the Gryphons later this season. Sophomore Jenn Carroll of Wilmington continued her outstanding season this past week, scoring four goals in the win over PMA, and scoring the only goal in the win over Blackstone. Carroll now has a remarkable 23 goals on the season.

In the tie with Northeast on Monday the Lady Rams lone goal came from Heather Masse with about five minutes to go in the game to pull Shawsheen even. The game had been scoreless until about ten minutes remained before Northeast had finally beaten goalie Kim Stockton of Tewksbury to take the lead.

"There was a lot of action in the middle of the field," Shawsheen coach Dough Michaud said. "There were no really great chances to score for either team for most of the game. To be honest it was a bit of a yawner until they scored their goal and that kind of woke both teams up."

Against Blackstone Stockton was called upon to do much more in order to earn the shutout, making 16 saves to continue her outstanding season.

"Kim did not have to make a lot of tremendous saves, but the field was very rough and she had to do a real good job of fielding the ball for us," Michaud said.

It came as a surprise to nobody that Carroll scored the only goal of the game, with an assist going to freshman Danielle Hayes on a nice set up in the first half. Carroll's exploits have been well documented and with good reason as she is clearly the most dominant player in the CAC this season, but Michaud was pleased to see Hayes get her name in the scorebook as well.

"There was a scramble in front of the net and Danielle made a nice pass to Jenn," Michaud said. Danielle does not get much press, but she is a good player and I think we will be hearing a lot more from her."

In the loss to Greater Lowell, the Lady Rams got their only goal of the game from Janel Madore of Tewksbury, but Michaud really felt the results could have been much different for his team.

"I thought we dominated the game," Michaud said. "Kimmy had 16 saves, but really we spent most of the game in their end of the field. Jenn alone had about eight shots on net, but she never really got close enough to score."

Greater Lowell scored right off the opening kickoff, about one minute into the game before Shawsheen fought back with Madore's goal on an assist from Masse in the second half. Greater Lowell scored the game winner on a free kick in the 19th minute of the second half.

Boys Soccer

The season keeps going and the Shawsheen boys soccer team continues to win. With a 5-0 home win over Cathedral on Monday afternoon the Rams kept their undefeated record intact, improving to 9-0-5 on the season.

Goal scorers for the Rams included Wilmington residents Andrew Puccio and Andy Maga, along with Tewksbury's Jeff Jaimes. Eric McLaughlin and Leo Riberio also hit the back of the net for the Rams.

The Rams dominated the game from start to finish as Cathedral managed only four shots on net for the entire game.

In their previous game, last Friday afternoon at the Tech, the Rams had battled arch rival Greater Lowell to a 0-0 tie behind some great goaltending by both squads. For the Rams, Mike LaMonica had 11 saves to earn the shutout, while the Rams were unsuccessful with seven shots on the Greater Lowell netminder. Tewksbury's Calvin McMillan, along with Kyle Breingan and Matt Blanchard all played well defensively for the Rams.

The Rams began their fine week of play last Wednesday with a 3-1 win on the road over CAC rival North Shore. First half goals by Craig Pease and Ryan Ahern, along with a second half tally by McLaughlin were enough to secure the victory behind a combined six saves from LaMonica and Josh Luthian.

Cross Country

The Shawsheen boys and girls cross country teams both wrapped up their season last Wednesday afternoon and both teams wrapped up very successful seasons with the boys sweeping to victory over Greater Lowell (24-32) and Mystic Valley (20-33) to wrap up the season with a record of 7-1, while the girls split their meet, defeating Mystic Valley (15-50), but losing to Greater Lowell (24-35) to finish their season at 6-3.

On the boys side, the Rams top finisher was junior Josh Weaver of Wilmington who finished second overall in a time of 18:30, followed closely by sophomore Bjorn Hanson in a time of 18:34. Senior co-captains Chris Damp and Nick Illsley took sixth and seventh overall with Damp finishing in a time of 19:20 while Illsley followed in a time of 19:32.

On the girls side, Shawsheen took third and fourth place with sophomores Abby Pinard and Alyssa Mooney of Tewksbury leading the way for the Lady Rams. Pinard finished in a time of 23:49, with Mooney right behind her at 23:54.

Another sophomore, Kristina Zacchini finished eighth overall.

Rams overcome big obstacles in latest victory

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

CHELSEA - Injuries are always a part of the game in football, but this was a little ridiculous for the Shawsheen Tech football team. On Saturday afternoon at Chelsea High School the Rams dominated the Red Devils on their home field, scoring 28 straight points after falling behind early, en route to a 28-6 victory to improve their record to 5-1 on the season with the CAC Upper Division portion of their schedule looming starting this week.

But thanks to several injuries suffered against Chelsea, that schedule may be a lot tougher to navigate through, as senior kicker Ryan McLaughlin (broken ankle), senior quarterback Joe Gore of Wilmington (sprained ankle), senior running back Pat Fullerton (knee) and senior Mat Compenschi (neck) of Wilmington were all injured during the course of the game.

The Rams were already short-handed entering the contest with both starting running backs, Fullerton and sophomore Chris Clark sidelined with injuries, Fullerton headed into the game with a thumb injury and did not play on offense, but did play the whole game at his noseguard le position before his knee injury.

Gore and Clark are expected to be back in time for Shawsheen's Homecoming Game against Whittier this Saturday afternoon at Shawsheen, while Fullerton's injuries leave him questionable and McLaughlin is lost for the season, costing the Rams a great weapon they have been able to rely on this season on field goals and extra points.

Shawsheen coach Al Costabile was pleased to see his team battle through the adversity of injuries and still come away with a victory.

"I think it says a lot about our depth," Costabile said. "You don't always have it going into a year and you never know what it's going to be like until you have to use it. Depth is one of those things that can look good on Tuesday or Wednesday, but you don't know what is going to happen on Friday night or Saturday afternoon when the speed is different. We proved that we have some depth and they were able to do it in a game situation."

Things did not start out well for the Rams in this one, as Chelsea got on the board on their first possession of the game, driving 58 yards after receiving the opening kickoff and capping the drive on a 31 yard run to give them a 6-0 lead with 7:29 left in the first quarter after a failed extra point attempt.

The Rams were not flustered however, as they came right back with a very impressive drive of their own with senior tri-captain Josh DeLisle of Tewksbury doing the bulk of the work with Clark and Fullerton sidelined. DeLisle picked up 46 of the 58 yards on the drive before Gore finished things off with a one yard keeper for a 7-6 lead with 2:42 left in the first quarter after the first of four McLaughlin extra points on the day.

Entering the game on the heels of a tough loss at Georgetown last week and falling behind early in this one, Costabile felt it was important for his team to come back the way they did early in the game.

"They put together a nice drive to draw first blood, but the mood of the team was still good," Costabile said. "It was huge for us to come back the way we did though. It was a great drive with some good running by DeLisle."

Shawsheen wasted little time in adding to their lead, holding Chelsea to a three and out and then driving 47 yards on their next possession despite losing Gore to an ankle injury on just the second play of the drive. Junior Shaun Miller was called upon to relieve Gore and immediately hit Joel Mignault with a 24 yard pass setting up an 18 yard touchdown run by sophomore Cory Foss, who would score three times in the game while seeing his first varsity action, with 8:15 left in the first half.

"It's not good when your quarterback goes down early in the game like Joe did," said Costabile, "but Shaun came in and did a real solid job of running the offense."

The Rams gave themselves some breathing room before halftime when they held Chelsea to another three and out and took over at the Red Devils 43 yard line. It did not look like the Rams would take advantage of the great field position as they faced a fourth and eight from the 31 yard line, but Foss would scamper into the end zone on a halfback draw to make the score 21-6 with time running out in the half.

Costabile was thrilled with the play of Foss, DeLisle and Miller in his completely revamped backfield. DeLisle would rush for 110 yards in the game on 17 carries, while Foss also filled in admirably with 136 yards rushing to go along with his three touchdowns in his varsity debut.

"Foss and DeLisle were a tremendous lift for us to be able to come in like that and play so well," Costabile said. "And Miller did a real heady job of running the offense."

The Rams would add their final score of the game with 2:57 remaining on a 30 yard run by Foss, but the real story of the game came moments later when McLaughlin broke his ankle trying to make a tackle on the ensuing kickoff and Fullerton injured his knee two plays later.

The Rams will try to overcome the injuries on Saturday afternoon at 1:30 at Cassidy Field in Billerica when they host defending CAC champion Whittier in the annual Homecoming Game. The Wildcats lost several players to graduation off of last year's championship squad and will enter the game with just a 2-4 record on the season, but Costabile knows his team will be in for a very big challenge if they want to get off to a good start in their league schedule.

"We have seen them a couple of times and they have the ability to move the ball on the ground very well, but they can also throw the ball as well" Costabile said. "They have had some young kids step in and play really well for them. That's what happens with a successful program, they are able to just reload."

The Wildcats come into the game on the heels of a hard fought 35-28 loss to Manchester-Exeter last Saturday afternoon in which Manchester scored the winning touchdown with just 2:22 left in the game on a 52 yard touchdown pass.

Bryan Trickett had a pair of touchdown runs in the game while Craig Eaton ran for a score while also catching a touchdown pass.

In their previous game, the Wildcats defeated Chelsea by a score of 22-18 with Eaton, Trickett and Tyler Page all scoring on touchdown runs.

said. "She's with you all of the time in school or at home and it's a lot of fun. She's a great person. She's always there to support me no matter what if it's soccer on the field, off the field or no matter what it is. We play a lot of sports so no matter what sport it is we're there to support each other."

Support is exactly what the Polcaris have to do on the field. They both play the sweeper-back positions and have to help out their fellow defenders and of course their keepers. But it wasn't always that way.

"I guess I kind of taught (Danielle) how to play defense," said J.J. "I used to play forward and she was a forward and then I switched back to defense and she started watching me and did the same."

Offered Danielle: "I saw how (J.J.) played (defensively) and I just wanted to give it a shot. Then I tried it and I started to become pretty good at it. He's really aggressive and I tried to copy that (with my play)."

J.J. has come along way on the field. In years past sometimes he would play a little too aggressive. But now he really has the sweeper-back position nailed down. He takes the ball when he should, he stays back when he should, he communicates very well and he'll make the big clear out boot when the opposing team applies the pressure.

"J.J. has been a rock for us defensively for three years," said Scanlon. "He started out on the outside and has become one of the better sweepers in the league. I think he's having an all-star caliber year. He's been a good quiet leader for us. He's a little kid, but plays a pretty big game."

The biggest reason why J.J. has gone from a pretty good outside back to one of the league's best sweeper-backs is knowing his position. Knowing when to go with the ball, when to stay back and so forth something he wasn't so sure about when he came onto the team as a sophomore.

"That's confidence," said Scanlon. "And learning the position. He counts on his backs and he's comfortable with the kids he plays with. He can gamble and not worry. But he's sniffed that out of when to go and when to stay. That's something you really can't teach. Either you have it or you don't. He's been able to figure that out. And besides that he's a good 1-on-1 tackler and he makes good decisions. He's been a big value to us."

As for Danielle, her style is much of the same but also quite different. She plays her position really well, and did a terrific job of making moves and carrying the ball out of the zone in the win over Tewksbury. But sometimes she's at a big disadvantage.

"It can be a little intimidating because everyone is taller than me," she said. "I'm only 5-foot-1 and everyone else is like 5-foot-8. It's a little intimidating because they try to come down and push me around but it's OK."

Hendee said that's probably Danielle's best feature ... just playing fearless soccer.

"When you see Danielle, she's that little kid back there who is probably 5-foot-1, 100 pounds soaking wet, but she's tough," said Hendee. "She's good in the air. And I think that's probably the best part about her game is she is not afraid to go up and head the ball in the scrum up there when things are tough in the middle. But it's funny to watch J.J. play and then watch Danielle play because they are both very similar."

J.J. says that when it comes to Danielle suiting up and playing, it comes down to one simple thing.

"Sometimes she is shy especially when she's nervous. But if she's not nervous she plays fine," he said.

Danielle admitted that she has taken a few chapters out of J.J.'s book of how to play sweeper-back. But with no other siblings, just her older brother, things are OK for Danielle, even though she, like her brother, may not like to actually say it.

"He's a good brother," said Danielle. "He taught me how to play (soccer) and he's always looking out for me. He's quiet around people he doesn't know but if he knows you he's pretty goofy. We like sports together and we go to each other's games (so that's good)."

Ditto for the Kennedy duo.

"We're twins and I'm a minute older," said Colleen. "I remember in elementary school everyone kept asking who was older and I got to say me, and I would tease him about that but he's taller than me so he has that over me. (But) Ryan's really great. He's nice. We both really like sports so he'll go to my games and I'll go to his games so that's a good thing."

Yes it is ... even if the four of them didn't quite want to admit it.

A fun day planned Saturday for Baldwin Park rededication

A new life for Woburn's Colonel Baldwin

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

The people of Woburn will be showing their enthusiasm for the city's history as they prepare for the rededication of Baldwin Green and the statue of Col. Loammi Baldwin on Saturday, October 20 at 10 a.m. (rain date Sunday, October 21 at 10 a.m.).

"It is going to be a fun ceremony," said Alderman at Large Joanna Gonsalves, spokesperson for the Committee that put the program together. "There is a lot of enthusiasm in Woburn for our history. We are hoping a lot of kids will come out to learn about the history of the community."

Among the planned events will be an appearance by Col. Baldwin and his wife, and a 21 gun salute from the Woburn Militia, which is made up from people from several area communities, much like it was in colonial days, when the militia played an important part in the early days of this country's war for independence from British rule. Elected officials and Baldwin family members from Baldwin, Maine, named for the Col. Baldwin, are also expected to be on hand.

After the ceremony, there will be offered to the three mansions surrounding the park - The Baldwin Mansion, the 1790 House and the Count Rumford Mansion. A brochure will be distributed with descriptions of the three homes during the ceremony.

"These are Revolutionary era homes that are still in existence," Gonsalves said.

All of this will be followed by a tour of First Burial Ground sponsored by the Woburn Historical Society. All of the events are free, although tickets are required for the Cemetery Tour. Tickets are available at the Woburn Commission Office or by going to the Memorial Library.

Col. Baldwin is famous for being an early Revolutionary War hero. General George Washington took part in many battles, including the Battle of the Clouds, the Battle of the Clouds, and the Battle of the Clouds.

The Middlesex country's first engineering feat history. The first Apple was planted in 1665, because the tree was a good grow, on Butters Hill. The tree was planted by the first settler, John Appleton, who was a woodpecker.

The tree was first discovered by William Butters (1665-1746), and was brought to Baldwin's attention by his friend Deacon Samuel Thompson a surveyor from Woburn. Baldwin has been credited with developing the species and planting several orchards around New England, including that part of Maine, which is now called Baldwin.

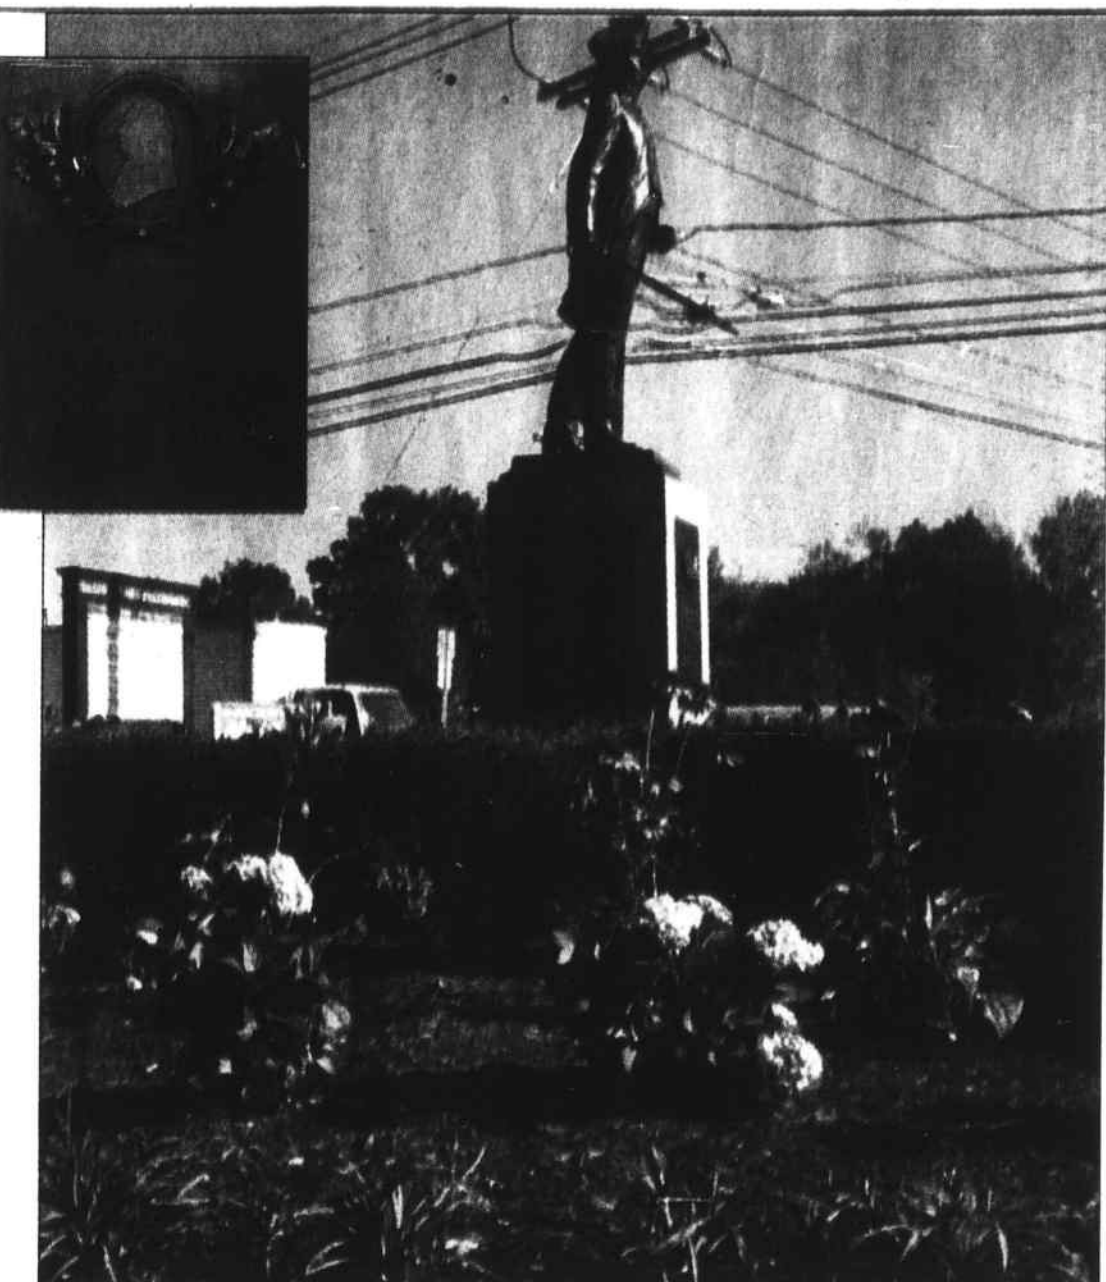

It is reported that Baldwin was close friends with Benjamin Thompson, who later became a famous scientist. After his death, Thompson was buried in the cemetery where he became known as the Count Rumford.

Baldwin and Thompson used to walk from Woburn to Cambridge, where the road is in on pictures given by John Winthrop at Harvard College. Both men were well recognized in their engineering and scientific pursuits.

The first house was bought by Baldwin from its first owner in an attempt to convince Rumford to return to his native land. When that did not work Baldwin was known to use the building as a guest house and for large parties.

Recently the Haggerty family of Woburn bought the property the house stood on and moved it to its present location to preserve its integrity during development of the area. It has been restored and has been used as commercial office space.

Baldwin also served as High Sheriff of Middlesex County. According to a report on Wikipedia.com he was "...the first to hold office after the adoption of the state constitution. In 1778, 1779, and 1780, and the four following years, he represented Woburn in the Massachusetts General Court. In 1794, he was a candidate for election to the United States House of Representatives, and obtained all the votes cast in Woburn but one."

THE REDEDICATION OF BALDWIN GREEN AND THE STATUE OF COL. LOAMMI BALDWIN will take place on Saturday, October 20 at 10 a.m. There will be a tour of the Burial Ground where "dead will come to life," including an appearance by Col. Baldwin. During the Depression years the brass sword was stolen from the statue, but with the help of contributions from local citizens and business people, the statue was restored by local sculptor Bob Shure.

After his marriage to a wealthy heiress, Thompson moved to Portsmouth, New Hampshire where he became a major in the Militia. However, he did not agree with the rebels when the war broke out and was discovered giving secrets to the British.

After the war he moved to Britain and then to Germany. He continued his studies of heat and thermodynamics, which he had started in Woburn before his marriage.

He was renowned for his work in these fields and a statue was erected to him, which stands in Munich Germany with a copy in front to Woburn City Hall.

According to Gonsalves, Baldwin Green was first formed as a home to Baldwin's Memorial statue about 1918. During the Depression years the brass sword was stolen from the statue.

With the help of contributions from local citizens and business people, the statue was restored by local sculptor Bob Shure. New landscaping has been added to the green and new lighting has been installed.

Gonsalves credited Dave Edmunds and former Ward Six Col. Baldwin to S-4

Movie Reviews

by Paul Feely

"Michael Clayton" - very compelling

GEORGE CLOONEY stars in this psychological thriller that has a tight story line with surprising twists and turns that keeps him facing one moral and ethical dilemma after another. Michael Clayton becomes more compelling with each passing moment in the movie

"MICHAEL CLAYTON"
GRADE: ****

Many of us roll our eyes today when another political scandal or celebrity meltdown hits the airwaves. Though we profess to be fed up with these disgraces, TV and internet ratings of their coverage suggest otherwise.

This is the scenario played out in the psychological thriller Michael Clayton. George Clooney plays Michael Clayton, a "fixer" in a prestigious Manhattan law firm. Although it seems this would be a less important job than representing a client in court, the kind of work Michael does is rare and vital to high-profile cases. It goes back to the old saying "it's not what you know, it's who you know" and this attorney has a mental rolodex of names to call in favors when help is needed with a particular case.

The movie opens with Michael reluctantly sent on a late night ride to deal with a client who ran into a jogger. The client demands that Michael immediately pull a fix out of his hat. Things turn into a heated debate with Michael basically offering a few ideas and leaving. During his now early morning ride back, the weary Michael stops and notices three horses alone in the middle of nowhere. As he walks down the hill to check them out, his Mercedes blows up. The vociferous explosion is an awakening in the peaceful silence that announces there's more here than the eye can see, and the story goes back several days to start the journey.

While this scenario alone would be enough intrigue to draw us in, the movie sets the bar even higher.

This reviewer found the transition back in time a tad confusing, but Clooney is so good, one couldn't help staying tuned in, and soon discovered the story is about a huge legal case. Michael's firm is representing U/North in a class-action lawsuit involving pesticides that caused physical harm to many of the plaintiffs. Conflict arises when Arthur (Tom Wilkinson), one of the firm's top litigators, puts the case in jeopardy.

Michael is told to fix it by his boss Marty Bach (Sydney Pollack), and becomes a sparring partner with U/North's lead counsel Karen Crowder (Tilda Swinton).

The movie's tight story, surprising twists and focused direction keep the key characters in this story facing one moral and ethical dilemma after another, and who better to play them to the hilt than Clooney, Wilkinson, Swinton and Pollack.

Although we've seen many films about high-profile law firms versus the average Joe, watching Michael Clayton becomes more compelling every minute.

"THE HEARTBREAK KID"
GRADE: ***

The Heartbreak Kid is built around a scary idea: What if you discovered on your honeymoon that you married the wrong person?

It's an idea that worked in Neil Simon's 1972 original, and it works equally well in this gross-out update by the Farrelly brothers.

The Farrellys are the guys behind There's Something About Mary and Dumb and Dumber. That means this Heartbreak Kid is filled with the kind of crude sight gags that Simon would never have thought of, never mind chose not to use. The visual bits are hilarious.

This time, the action centers on Eddie Cantrow (Ben Stiller), a 40-year-old man who runs a sporting goods store and is getting antsy about being perpetually single.

He meets Lila (Malin Akerman), a sun-kissed blonde who works as an environmental researcher. After a fast romance, Eddie proposes on impulse, and the couple road-trips to Cabo San Lucas for their honeymoon.

Almost instantly, the warning signs appear. Sure, it's cute when Lila sings along with the radio in the car. But when she starts crooning Muskrat Love, we know something's wrong.

Soon, secrets are revealed. Lila suffers from a deviated septum, a result of her days as a cocaine addict. She's off the drugs but still has a $26,000 debt she racked up while under the influence. And there's the little matter that her "job" is a volunteer position: "You get paid for a job!" an exasperated Eddie moans.

Just when things can't get any worse for Eddie, he meets Miranda (an endearing Michelle Monaghan of Mission: Impossible III), a warm and funny Southern woman attending a family wedding in Mexico. The chemistry is instant, but how does he tell her that he's on his honeymoon?

This being a comedy, he doesn't. He doesn't lie. At first he simply says nothing, and then there's a misunderstanding that makes Miranda believe that he's a widower. Either way, he falls more in love with Miranda as his disenchantment with Lila grows.

One reason the movie works so well is that it's hard to see how it can have a happy ending. Because it's a Farrelly movie, the characters are given a surprising depth. You can't imagine Miranda accepting Eddie once she learns that he's married, because she's too sweet and sensible.

The cast is excellent. Stiller is solid as always, and Akerman proves to be an adept physical comedian. Monaghan is a winsome charmer in the Rachel McAdams tradition.

There's a hilarious supporting bit by Jerry Stiller (Ben's real-life dad), who plays Eddie's lecherous father. Rob Corddry (The Daily Show With Jon Stewart) is equally funny as a pal who pushes Eddie toward the altar.

The Heartbreak Kid is consistently full of laugh-out-loud moments. The sight gags are outrageous, the story is genuinely involving and the whole movie has a bit of sweetness to it.

"THE KINGDOM"
GRADE: ***

Finally, a Hollywood movie about American military involvement in the War on Terror that actually shows America in a positive light. Director Peter Berg has taken a good script by Matthew Michael Carnahan, about a terrorist attack on Americans in Saudi Arabia, based on a real 2003 incident, and produced an action-packed, high tension film with exceptional special effects that puts the viewer in the middle of the mayhem.

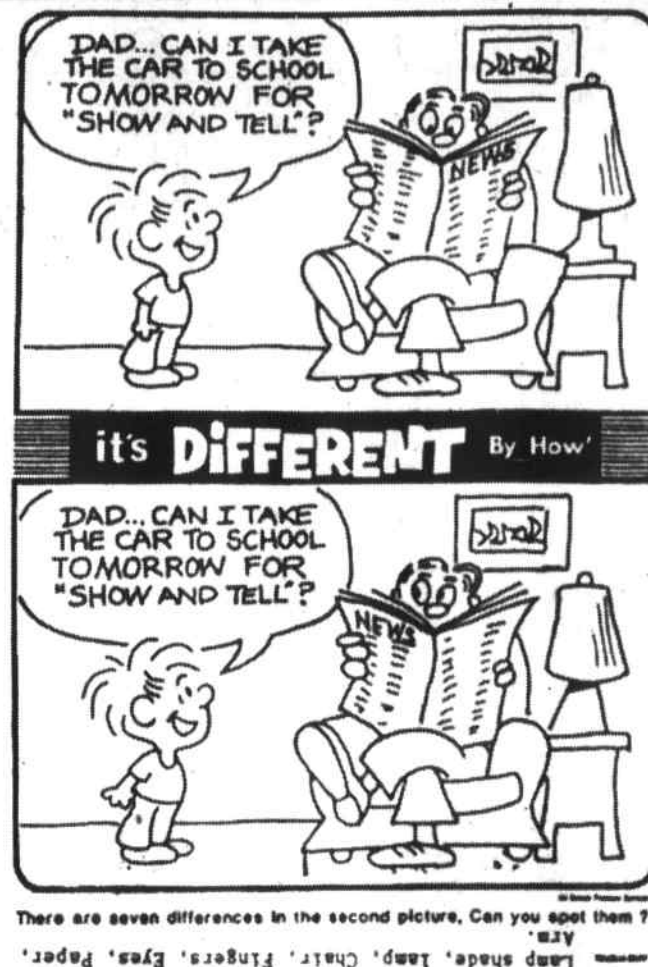

Especially effective is the camera work by Mauro Fiore and the music by Danny Elfman.

Ronald Fleury (Jamie Foxx) is an FBI agent who takes matters into his own hands when his superiors are reluctant to allow him to go to Saudi Arabia and get involved in the horrible attack. He takes his partners, Grant Sykes (Chris Cooper), Janet Mayes (Jennifer Garner), and Adam Leavitt (Jason Bateman) with him for a quick trip to Saudi Arabia to try to find those responsible. Once there, he finds himself under the tether of Colonel Faris Al Ghazi (Ashraf Barhom).

Berg captures the horror of terror attacks several times during the film. One of the more memorable ones occurs when a suicide bomber blows himself up when we least expect it and it feels as if we are standing right next to him. Although the actors are good, this is a director's movie. Berg keeps the interest and tension at a high level throughout.

Berg says that he wasn't "looking to make an all-American film about a group of Americans that come and kick (butt) in an Arab culture. We're politically neutral in the film. If we go after anyone, it's violent extremism. This movie is about Americans and Arabs working together in a very decent and human way."

There was no overt message in the film until the end, and the message certainly captures one possible outlook for the world. Regardless of whether or not Berg was sending a message, or the message someone might get out of it, in the end a film should be entertaining, and this one is.

"GOOD LUCK CHUCK"
GRADE: *

Dane Cook is great as a standup comedian, but unfortunately he remains Exhibit A in the case against some comedians making the leap to the movie screen.

His latest film, "Good Luck Chuck," is an unfunny mix of romantic and gross-out comedy co-starring Jessica Alba.

Cook's Chuck is a dentist who's been cursed since childhood to break up with any woman he dates.

His popularity soars when women figure out that if they sleep with Chuck, they will end up marrying the next guy they date.

The novelty is fun at first, until Chuck meets the klutzy Cam (Alba), who works at the local Penguinarium.

Convinced that this is the real thing, he puts the relationship in a physical holding pattern until he can prove the spell is broken.

This leads to the movie's grossest gag as Chuck beds the largest woman he can find, certain that no one will propose to her. That's after he performs a similar service for his obese secretary.

In a movie packed with low humor, the most offensive moments are reserved for Chuck's fat guy comic sidekick Dr. Stu (Dan Fogler).

Aside from delivering the year's most obnoxious one-liners, he attempts to outdo 'American Pie' with a grapefruit fresh from the microwave.

Romantic scenes are routinely sandwiched between shots like one of Cam's penguin pal dining on its own feces. Don't bother with this one.

"THE BRAVE ONE"
GRADE: ***

Jodie Foster's new film "The Brave One" is about how a random act of violence changes a woman who survives it; how she becomes someone darker and colder, unafraid to do what she needs to take back the night. The film is a rarity: a violent action movie with a heart and soul.

Foster, looking thin and taut, plays Erica Bain, an NPR radio commentator whose life with her fiancé, David (Naveer Andrews), seems almost too happy. That life ends, quickly and horribly, as they walk their dog one night in Central Park. A gang of thugs ambushes them, one wielding a camera phone. Both are beaten savagely: David is killed, Erica nearly so.

Weeks later, she leaves the hospital and goes home, to an empty apartment and dead flowers in a vase. Fearful and

October is Breast Cancer Month

Friends Fighting Breast Cancer and local businesses join forces to benefit research

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month and Friends Fighting Breast Cancer (FFBC) is helping to spread the word by partnering with area businesses. All proceeds donated to this all-volunteer non-profit organization based in North Reading benefit cutting-edge research at Mass. General Hospital, Boston. FFBC has channeled over $640,000 into research at MGH since 1996.

Jewelry for a Cure

Throughout October, Brighton Collectibles at the Burlington Mall (second floor) is promoting its Power of Pink campaign. Limited edition breast cancer awareness bracelets, necklaces and earrings are being sold at the store during October. Brighton's will donate $10 to FFBC for each bracelet or necklace purchased and $5 for each pair of earrings. The jewelry may be purchased individually or as a set.

Hat & Turban Drive Oct. 20

Fabric Place of the Woburn Mall will co-sponsor its 10th annual Hat and Turban drive with FFBC on Saturday, October 20 from 1-4 p.m. Drop off any new hat, turban or baseball cap in the donation box and FFBC will make sure they are donated to patients experiencing hair loss due to cancer treatments. In addition, Fabric Place will donate $5 to FFBC for each hat or turban collected, up to $5,000.

This year's drive is especially poignant due to the passing of former FFBC member Karen Butland, 48, to breast cancer over the summer. Butland helped forge the connection between Fabric Place and FFBC through the sponsorship of the store's first quilt-a-thon and subsequently, the hat and turban drive.

Pilates for Breast Cancer

Curious about pilates? For a donation of $6 to FFBC, participants can experience this unique, low impact exercise class at the North Reading School of Ballet, 52 Main St. (Rte. 28) North Reading at a fund-raiser on Saturday, October 27 from 8:30 to 10 a.m. Two sessions will be held and refreshments will be served. Wear comfortable workout attire and bring a mat if you have one. The class is suitable for all ages and fitness levels.

Calendar raffle

FFBC is selling calendar raffles for $10 through October 31 for drawings to be held throughout November. Over $2,000 in prizes will be awarded, with a minimum value of $50 per day. All tickets drawn are returned to the pot, giving each ticket holder multiple chances to win prizes. Contact co-chairman Fran Gilardi via email for a raffle ticket at frangilardi@comcast.net. Or look for members selling raffles at area stores and supermarkets.

10th Gala & Silent Auction

FFBC is also gearing up for its 10th Gala and Silent Auction at the Burlington Marriott on Saturday, March 1, 2008. Members are actively seeking items for the silent auction at their signature event.

All donations to FFBC are tax deductible (ID#04-3411054). For more information on any FFBC fund-raiser call co-chairmen Fran Gilardi at 1-978-664-6947 or Mike O'Neill at 1-978-664-8141. FFBC was co-founded by the late Janet Connolly O'Neill, 51, who battled the disease for nearly 13 years.

altered, she slowly transforms, gradually choosing to embrace violence rather than shrink from it. As stories of vigilante crime grip the city, police detective Sean Mercer (Terrence Howard) steps slowly closer to the truth.

Foster, in a performance of quiet, devastating honesty, takes hold of the movie, walking us through Erica's gradual transformation.

Though the action sometimes feels a bit contrived (it seems unlikely that Erica would suddenly have so many unconnected encounters with violent situations, so close together),

DOING WHAT'S NECESSARY

WAAV (Wakefield)

"What started as a conversation between Wakefield Police Chief Richard Smith and past president Carol Gamble at a Wakefield Rotary Club meeting has led to the creation of the Wakefield Alliance Against Violence (WAAV), a community-based organization dedicated to creating a lifestyle free from violence in Wakefield," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Since that discussion in late 2006, WAAV has become a non-profit corporation with a fourteen-member Board of Directors, a slate of officers, an advisory board, and a mission statement focused on promoting awareness throughout the community while providing education, resources and support to families and individuals with an emphasis on prevention."

"WAAV's mission was recently bolstered by a $10,000 grant from the Massachusetts Legislature which was secured by State Senator Richard Tisei, as well as a $5,000 donation from the Wakefield Rotary Club."

"According to Wakefield Rotary Club President Richard Reidy, the club embraced WAAV and its goal to address violence among children and adults after hearing from guest speakers like Attorney General Martha Coakley and Middlesex District Attorney Jerry Leone."

"It was their frank comments that led to the discussion between club members Gamble and Chief Smith, and the club's commitment to support the grassroots organization."

sion between club members Gamble and Chief Smith, and the club's commitment to support the grassroots organization."

"The torch has also been taken up by other individuals, businesses and organizations in the community who share Rotary's commitment to preventing and stopping violence in Wakefield. Board members include representatives from the health care and special services industries, law enforcement, clergy, education, civic organizations, and other professions with a visible presence in the community."

"The organization is also fortunate to have mentors from the Melrose Alliance Against Violence, the Middlesex District Attorney's office and Hallmark Health who serve as members of the Advisory Board."

"According to WAAV President Lynne Zervas of Wakefield Adult Mentors, the organization is in the earliest phase of assessing the needs of the community and where it can be of the most service...."

Spaced out (Burlington)

"Precinct 6 Rep. John Cormier is concerned about the amount of available cemetery space in town and asks whether the Wildwood School property should be used for that purpose," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Cormier broached the topic at a meeting of the Board of Selectmen."

"I ask one or two questions at these meetings, and it seems another 10 to 12 surface when I speak to people on the street," Cormier told the selectmen.

"The topic lately is cemetery space," he added. There were some numbers thrown around, but how long will it (cemetery space) last?"

"Selectwoman Sonia Rollins answered that the amount of space available is expected to last another five years."

"Town Administrator Robert Mercier said there is excavation going on in a section of the Pine Haven Cemetery which is going to yield 250 lots."

"It is a new section which was scheduled to be completed by the end of August," Mercier reported. "We are also going back and revisiting lots families purchased (in past years).... The lots are tight."

"Acknowledging there is a need for more cemetery space in town, Mercier said, 'Clearly, five years will pass like that.... It is on the top of Mr. (John, public works superintendent) Sanchez's punch list.'

"I am wondering why we are proceeding with the sale of the (Wildwood) land when we might need additional land for a cemetery," Cormier said."

"We are looking at old roads, the old Chestnut Hill cemetery, we are looking at a lot of options," said Selectmen Chairman Albert Fay. "A lot of cities and towns have gone that route; they have gotten 40 or 30 more lots from old roads."

"We should have long ago looked for a larger piece of land," said Selectman Gary Gianino. "We have got to come up with a long-term plan, not something we have to deal with every 10 years."

"If you recall, I voted against the Seminatore property (off Bedford Street, now used as cemetery land) as cemetery space because I felt it was too small," Gianino added.

"We have to do something...families don't want to go through any more anguish than they do," said Cormier. "At some point in our lives, we make plans."

"Cormier then said, 'I am hearing more opposition than you may be hearing,' with regard to the possible sale of the Wildwood School property."

"Gianino said that whatever is done with the Wildwood property is likely to involve 'long-term use' of the land."

"We still have a lot of alternatives we have to pursue," Gianino stated...."

Taking a deep 'breadth' (Tewksbury)

"It's transition time in the Tewksbury Engineering Department," notes the "Tewksbury Town Crier."

"The departure of the former Town Engineer, Lisa DeMeo, provides an opportunity to welcome the new Town Engineer, Michele Stein."

"Stein will be filling the vacancy created when previous Town Engineer Lisa DeMeo left to accept the City Engineer position in Lowell. DeMeo served as Town Engineer for five years, during which time, among her many duties, she interacted with CDM, the engineering firm contracted to oversee some phases of the Sewer project."

"Stein has worked for the town since January 2005 as a Project Manager under DeMeo in the Engineering Division of Community Development. In June of 2007, she gave birth to her second

From S-1

Alderman John Ciriello for advocating for the restorations. This came about as a result of plans to widen the intersection near the Green were brought before the City fathers.

As a part of the day's festivities, the Woburn Historical Society will conduct three tours of the First Burial Ground, located near Woburn Center. The tours will start in Citizens'

Park across Main Street from City Hall and the Commons.

Historical Commission Chair and Society member Walt Kearney is producing the tour. He noted that people taking the tour should park in the municipal lot behind Citizens' Park and walk down the stairs into the park.

They will be told the story of the man who swapped his wife for five oxen, which will be on display in the Park. The tour will then cross the street to the Burial Ground where "dead will come to life," including another appearance by Col. Baldwin.

The tours will be narrated by local historian John McElhiney. The first tour will start at 1 p.m. and the next two will be at 1:50 p.m. and 2:40 p.m. respectively.

CHEERLEADERS competed at Waltham High School in the Middlesex League Championships. It was a history-making day, as three teams took first place, one team grabbed second place and another team won an honorary trophy.

Reading D-Team was the first to compete. They performed their routine pleasing the crowd and the judges. They came in second and earned a place in the Eastern Mass Cheering Championship in November. The day was off to a good start!

The C-Team competed next. They delighted the crowd and judges as they performed their dance and tumbling. Their movement was sharp and clean and they hit all their stunts. When the competition ended the C-Team was Reading's first Middlesex League Champion of the day.

Later in the day the B-Team Cheerleaders competed in the Small Intermediate class. This team competed against the always strong Wilmington, Melrose and Woburn squads. Their performance was amazing. They wowed the judges, spectators and other cheerleaders with their sharp controlled routine and awesome tumbling. At the end of this session the B-Team was Reading's second Middlesex League Champion.

The E-Team Cheerleaders are the youngest of the Reading squads. They performed an exhibition of their routine. Their cute smiles, loud voices and cheer brightened the gym. They will perform another exhibition at the New England Cheer and Dance competition in November.

The A-Team portion of the day was last. Reading's A-Team competed in the small novice category. Their amazing performance was a great ending to a very successful day for Reading. Great smiles, flashy movements and loud voices earned them Reading's third Middlesex League Title of the day and the honor of being the first A-Team cheerleaders from Reading to win a Middlesex League Cheering competition.

The Four teams have earned a place in the upcoming Eastern Mass Cheering Championship in November. They will be competing against the winners of Merrimack Valley, Greater Boston and North Shore League Competitions all of which will be held separately this month. The teams will have to place in 1st or 2nd to qualify to move on to the New England Championships where Pop Warner Cheering teams compete for a place at the National competition at Disney World in Florida daughter, and she returned to work on September 17th as the new Town Engineer.

"Not only does Stein bring two years of in-house experience, but she also has experience working for a private engineering firm and has served as an adjunct instructor at Merrimack College.

"She has proven to be a highly competent civil engineer," said Steve Sadwick, Director of Community Development, who also described Stein as, "very qualified, very familiar with the town and the sewer project..."

"According to Sadwick, Stein's greatest challenge will be the breadth of work that must be completed with limited resources..."

"About the Towns" covers recent events in the 10-town Middlesex East area. If you are considering a move to an independent or assisted living community or have a loved one in need of skilled care ... it's time for a legal checkup.

> If you or your spouse has had a change in physical or mental condition, you should learn about the many programs and services that are available to you whether you want to remain in your home or are considering a move to an independent or assisted living community.

> If your Power of Attorney is not durable, it is not sufficient. If you have a Durable Power of Attorney, but it is only a few pages long, it is probably not sufficient for many common issues that elders face.

> If you and your spouse have "sweetheart" Wills (each of you leaves everything to your beloved spouse...), consider drafting new Wills which could protect your assets if one of you requires nursing home care.

Exercise greater control over your future by scheduling a legal checkup today.

The country style Brookside

Tapered columns set on stone veneer bases give a classic Craftsman look to the country-style Brookside. This two-story, midsize plan has an open, welcoming exterior, and a family-friendly interior.

Entering, you step into a foyer with an arched opening on the left that leads into a room with many possibilities. Designed for use as a dining room or parlor, it could just as easily become a home office, family study area, or you name it.

Day-to-day meals and activities center around the vaulted great room, which slopes up to the two-story ceiling and is wide open to the nook and kitchen. This is clearly the heart of the home. Two tall windows flank the gas fireplace, while wide sliding glass doors in the nook provide easy access to the partially covered patio.

Kitchen amenities include a large work island, roomy pantry, and built-in appliances. The desk that nestles into an alcove in the nook could be built with either shelves or cabinets above. Standing at the kitchen sink, you can gaze across the patio to watch the changing seasons, or keep tabs on activities and conversations in the nook and great room.

Laundry appliances are nearby in a utility room, complete with cabinets, folding counter, and deep sink. A handy powder room is just across a hall that provides direct access to the two-car garage.

A spacious owners' suite fills the right wing of the Brookside. Its bathroom boasts a dual vanity, oversized shower, and totally private toilet. The window seat in the large walk-in closet is an ideal spot to savor some alone time, curled up with a book you just can't put down. Two more bedrooms, a bath, and a bonus room are upstairs.

For a review plan, including scaled floor plans, elevations, section and artist's conception, send $25 to Associated Designs, 1100 Jacobs Dr., Eugene, OR 97402. Please specify the Brookside 30-613 and include a return address when ordering. A catalog featuring more than 550 home plans is available for $15. For more information, call (800) 634-0123, or visit our website at www.AssociatedDesigns.com.

Autumn color from S-11

Put dahlia stems in a vase and surround it with fresh pears and pomegranates for an easy table centerpiece.

2. Reclaim your youth and get the kids involved in a fun project that can be used to display some fall foliage. Gather good specimens of fallen leaves in bright autumn colors. Place a few leaves between two pieces of waxed paper and seal together with an iron set to a low temperature. Frame the artwork and display.

3. Wreaths aren't just for the winter holidays. Wind evergreen boughs around a grapevine wreath and dot with small garlands and faux or real garlands of leaves. Hang on the front door or over the fireplace.

4. Autumn often evokes visions of forests and woodland retreats. Transform any home into a "cozy cabin" by mimicking some of the design styles. Place a checkered tablecloth on the kitchen or dining room table. Wooden ducks or bowls full of pine cones can add some country charm. Rustic wood accents from picture frames to gathered wigs placed in a vase also add to the appeal.

5. Even if you haven't fired up your fireplace for the season, make sure it's a focal point of the room. Place fall-colored candles right in the hearth and tangle garland on the mantle.

The footsteps of a clean home

By Cynthia Inman a.k.a. ASK CINDY HOW

vacuum, and lots of other updates and you really have a home that is in move-in condition.

Too good to be true? Well, yes. It's so good and it's so true that you really have to see it to believe it. Sure, there may be lots of houses on the market but there are very few homes. This is one of them.

Call RE/MAX Patriot Realty and ask for Paul at (617) 529-5403. This home is being offered at $549,900.

Fall tips from S-11

best indoor air quality by trapping airborne allergens such as pollen, dust, pet dander mold and bacteria through its HEPA filter system."

The exterior and interior of a home should be well-caulked, especially around windows and vents, to prevent water leaks. Without caulking, mold growth and structural problems may occur. "If you are building a home, insist that your builder install a proven waterproofing system, drain tile and vapor retarder to your home's foundation," Gagnon added. "A water-managed foundation can greatly improve indoor air quality by preventing problems associated with moisture."

Make sure a home's roof and windows are in good shape. Water leaks, condensation and elevated levels of humidity may not be visible, but moisture in interior wall spaces can encourage mold growth and structural degradation.

It's important to route water away from your home's foundation. Keep gutters and drains clean and in good repair. Be sure downspouts have a five percent slope to carry water away from your foundation. More information on the benefits of ventilation is available at www.venmar.ca.

(MS) - I have been asked by many, "what do you notice in a home that determines whether it is relatively clean or not?" Well, I have made many notes about this issue both mental and actual. I thought I would share a few of these points. Of course, you can check out my other tips in the columns on my Web site at www.askcindyhow.com.

As you can see, this is only Part I of at least a two-part series. Let me take you through a path that is not very different from the one I move through when I do an actual walk through of a potential customer's home.

1. The very first place my eyes will land is on the front door of the house or apartment. As I notice dirty frames and hinges within the recesses of the door, it's the first hint that the housekeeping routine needs an adjustment. Along with this, when I see that the threshold of the doorway is unsightly, I begin to say, "Um huh! - We have some work here." You know the story about first impressions.

2. I look up at the light fixtures, wall sconces, chandeliers and lamp shades. It is here where more often than not, you will find those incessant cobwebs on lights, lampshades as well as cloudy film on glass. We're going to need further attention here.

3. My eyes will sweep the room for those hi and low cobwebs in the cathedral ceilings, ceiling skylights, corners/edges, radiators, baseboards and the corners of stairwells. There is work to be done.

4. Now to enter the kitchen - one of my favorite rooms. I immediately recognize that appliances and accessories have dust and food crumbs caught in grooves and edges.

It's interesting how this type of accumulation can become a part of the fabric of our home experience without us really noticing. However, when these items are cleaned we immediately notice the difference. It is here where toothbrushes and a vacuum crevice tool will make a visible difference. Every surface properly cleaned improves the air quality and the energy of a home. Not just a little but ten-fold. How much is that worth?

5. Now, for the bathrooms. What I usually see immediately is dingy tile grout lines on the ceramic walls and floor. Mildew is another unsightly find in many bathrooms. Some will try to convince the homeowner that the only thing that can be done is to dig out the lines and re-grout. With a different determination, I've found that using proper techniques along with effective cleaning tools and detergents can resolve 80 percent of these issues minimally. Renewal cleaning allows anyone to start again. Provide a new life for all surfaces by eradicating the dirt build-up and learning how to maintain your home.

In closing, I present myself as a guru in the field of house cleaning due to my years of dedication to the craft of cleaning. Simply put, I have a passion and God-given gift for cleaning. I can feel dirt, see dirt in the dark and make any unsightly, dirty surfaces come clean. I love what I do and I've dedicated my professional life to being able to share my talent and gift via service, my writings and my cleaning seminars. Ask Cindy's "know how" is for all domains. There isn't any home, mansion, school, apartment, office building, restaurant, or castle that couldn't benefit from my professional housekeeping tips. ## 7 ways to adorn the home with autumn color

The beauty of autumn hues is perhaps only surpassed by the grandeur of holiday lights and trimmings. But before you get set to deck your house in Christmas flair, transform it into an autumnal wonder in time for the month of November and your Thanksgiving feast.

1. Borrowing from the shades of nature is one of the easiest ways to transform interior and exterior into beautiful fall scenes. Take advantage of hardy mums in bold yellows, russets, and oranges to give flowerbeds a fall feel. Put a bunch of bur-

Fall home care tips

Did you know that excess levels of moisture or relative humidity in your home provide ideal environments for contaminants like mold and dust mites, which are known allergens for many people? Elevated levels of moisture can also contribute to structural damage within a home's walls, attic, foundation and exterior.

Fortunately, there are steps you can take to regulate the level of humidity in your home. Here are some helpful tips from, Gerry Gagnon, Product & Market Manager for Venmar Ventilation, a leading expert in indoor air quality management, to help you control the potential hazards created by excess moisture.

Daily activities in the kitchen and bathroom can introduce large amounts of water vapor and other contaminants into the home. Install and maintain hood exhaust fans of sufficient capacity over your kitchen range and in your bathrooms. Locate intakes where they can capture the most moisture and make sure that bath vents exhaust air outdoors and not into your attic or other interior space.

Elevated levels of humidity can cause moisture problems including window condensation, structural rot and mold growth. To help control humidity and remove excess moisture levels from your home, consider installing a mechanical air exchanger system. "For exceptional results, you can look to the most recent innovation in the industry - Venmar's air exchanger," Gagnon said. "Venmar is the first manufacturer of ventilation systems to offer a unit that integrates heat recovery ventilation technology with HEPA filtration at an affordable price."

"The system works to provide fresh air through ventilation and at the same time ensures the

Four bedroom colonial in Stoneham may offer what you're looking for

I know. You've looked at dozens of homes: Ranches, Capes, Victorians, Saltboxes (what the heck is a Saltbox, anyway?). In fact, you've seen so many homes, that your head is starting to spin. Why can't there be one great home that is still within your price range and needs absolutely nothing? Well, this four bedroom Colonial in Stoneham may be the one for you.

Situated on a quiet, dead end street, you'll feel right at home in this neighborhood. It's close to all major highways and it's just a stone's throw from the Commuter Rail (well, you'll need a very good arm, but you get the point.) Sure you'll need a lawn mower to cut all the beautiful grass but at least it will be green with the built-in irrigation system.

But what about living space? How about four bedrooms, a living room, a dining room, an eat-in-kitchen, and so much closet space you'll have to immediately go to Kohls just to buy more clothes to fill them all. Plus there are two and a half baths and a full attic to store all that China you got on your wedding that you'll just never use.

Not very handy around the house? Good, because you can leave your tools at Home Depot. Owned by a contractor, most of the work has been done for you: new hardwood floors adorn most of the first and second floors; energy efficient windows were installed just a few years ago and a new back deck was built just this summer. Add to that central air, an alarm system, central
